

'CRIMINALLY UNWISE' RELIEF RAKED BY REED

'NEVER TEMPORIZE,' SOLDIERS ADVISED

Amendment to Cut $375,000,000 Measure to $125,000,000 Rejected—House Offered Plan.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Federal appropriations for unemployment relief were called "criminally unwise" in the Senate today by Senator Reed (Rep.) of Pennsylvania.

The Senate was considering the La Follette-Costigan bill, which, in its amended form, would provide $175,000,000 of Federal funds to be distributed among the needy jobs of the states, and an additional $275,000,000 gift for road-building. A dramatic interlude punctuated the debate when Senator Frazier, North Dakota, Progressive, read from "emergency orders" recently issued to the Illinois National Guard for dealing with "domestic disturbances" which might occur during the depression. Frazier grimly recited the instructions, in which troop commanders were directed never to temporize with mobs, always to use ball ammunition and fire to hit, to post sharpshooters in upper story windows to pick off mob leaders, and always to attack in the rear and flank.

"It appears," Senator Frazier said, "that the War Department has its own plan for dealing with the unemployment situation, and it is a plan which I much prefer to the La Follette-Costigan plan, but perhaps the Senate would be interested in the War Department's plan."

He then read from a manual entitled "Emergency plans for domestic disturbances," issued to the 312 National Guard Division, under the name of Major-General Roy D. Keen. After stating that a continuation of the depression might lead to rioting, he said: "Troops should never be ordered on riot duty without an ample supply of ball ammunition, the manual stated. 'No blank cartridges will be issued. Never fire over the heads of rioters. The aim should be low, with full charge ammunition and the battle sight.'"

"There may be some merit in the order to fire low," he commented. "A ball fired from the stomach would meet with such little resistance that one bullet probably would be sufficient to kill half a dozen unemployed men."

"Under the chapter heading, 'The importance of quelling a mob in its incipency,' troop commanders were informed by the manual that 'the logical place to attack a mob is in the rear flank,' because crowds usually are found there, and 'once a break begins, the others are likely to follow like sheep.'"

"Need Not Fear Repression," "Officers and men should not fear reprisal in case of one or more people are killed. The laws of most states and the common law provides that unless it is proven that the killing was through police, wantonness or cruelty, the soldier is not punishable for it, even though he used bad judgment."

Pointing out that under present law the National Guard is a part of the regular army, Frazier declared that the orders had been framed in the War Department, and the War Department had trained troops in their execution.

"It is not my idea of the way the Government should deal with the unemployment situation," he said, "but that way may be adopted unless we pass this bill to relieve suffering and provide jobs."

It was thought the bomb release mechanism was faulty. The Admiral said mistakes could not have occurred, and that the Japanese aviators have strict instructions against flying over the Settlement. There have been some mistakes, he admitted.

Japanese officials announced today that the Japanese soldiers, mostly blue-jackets, have been killed since the Shanghai fighting began on Jan. 28.

Chinese civil authorities said some peace proposals had emanated from Japanese sources in "veiled fashion" last night, and that they expected further developments. Japanese naval officials also said "something may happen." They indicated, however, they had been making time in preparation for a new drive, and that they had strengthened their forces in Shanghai and at Woosung, where additional soldiers and blue-jackets were landed from Japanese barges plying the waters there and the wharves in the river. To back up the indication that they were ready to fight it out to a finish, the greatest concentration of guns, maneuvering artillery were laid down, which positions could not be captured without heavy loss of life by the attackers.

Chinese intelligence officers informed the Associated Press the Chinese were preparing to defend themselves against a concentrated Japanese attack, were building their trench system along the north side of Woosung Creek in the style of the "Hindenburg line" during the World War. There were deep dugouts, high-walled trenches and machine gun nests. Military experts said that unless a heavy artillery barrage were laid down, which positions could not be captured without heavy loss of life by the attackers.

The bombardments, Sir John said, occurred Feb. 5 and 6. Sir John contended the bombing of the refugee camp was unnecessary and without military advantage. The first raid, he said, resulted in the killing of a woman and a boy and the wounding of four other Chinese. One of whom died later.

The next day, he said, the planes again dropped bombs on the camp, killing 45 persons, many of them women, and most of whom were patients in the camp hospital. The planes returned twice again on Feb. 7, he said, and bombed the camp both times, but the refugees had been evacuated the night before.

"This bombing was worse than a crime," the flood relief director's statement said, "it was folly. It could not possibly have had any military advantage for the Japanese."

MILLS CONFIRMED, MUST WAIT THREE DAYS TO TAKE NEW POST

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—Orden L. Mills was confirmed by the Senate yesterday as Secretary of the Treasury, although he can not receive his commission of office until three days have elapsed.

The objection of Senator Norris of Nebraska prevented waiving the three-day wait in favor of Mills. During that time the Senate may reconsider his nomination.

When the Senate approved Mills' nomination it also confirmed that of Arthur A. Ballantine, now Assistant Secretary, to be Under-Secretary of the Treasury in Mills' place. He too will have to wait the three days.

Impeachment charges against Andrew W. Mellon were dropped by the House Judiciary Committee yesterday, holding that because Mellon's impending resignation from the Cabinet to take the oath of Ambassador to the Court of St. James, "nothing justified further proceedings."

The vote on the resolution finally adopted was 14 to 4. This resolution, after setting forth Mellon's appointment as Ambassador, and his confirmation by the Senate, leaving a space for the date of his resignation from the Treasury, said:

"Be it resolved by this committee that further consideration of the said charges against Andrew W. Mellon as Secretary of the Treasury be and the same are hereby discontinued."

Berg Questioned by Defense at Kidnaping Trial

900 in bonds stolen from the Grand National Bank, died last fall. Joseph J. Lemen, Berg's brother, refused to have anything to do with the case and reported receipt of the note to the police.

"Did they ask you to write to Lemen?" Lacy asked. "They made me write to Lemen," was the reply. The questioning turned again to Berg's inability to recognize voices of the men he heard at the flat. "We did very little talking there," he said. "Most of the time I read. They watched me from the other room. At meal times we talked a little. I had to put the goggles on them. They usually brought me ham and eggs for breakfast and other times sandwiches."

"Very scant meals?" "All I wanted."

At the time he wrote the first note setting forth what his ransom would be, two of the kidnapers wrangled over the amount, Berg testified. One, he said, directed the other to write $50,000, while the other said $20,000 would be enough and finally growled "Aw, if you're going after $50,000, I'm going to kick out."

After Berg was turned over for cross-examination the State asked him one additional question. It was: "If you know, will you tell us whether or not the kidnapers removed the bedclothing from the flat where you were kept during the time you were kept there, or at the time you left the place?"

"They did," Berg replied. "As we were leaving the place some one threw a bundle down the stairs and it hit me in the leg. I asked one of the kidnapers what it was and he said it was the bedclothes."

This bit of testimony the State hopes to connect later with testimony to be given by Arthur Bateman, a former associate of Heuer in the Fish Dealers' Association. Bateman will testify, the State said in outline of its case yesterday, that before the kidnaping Heuer came to the Fish Dealers' Association headquarters and was asked to help in the kidnaping.

Bateman will testify further, the Circuit Attorney said, that Heuer said he was angry because a friend of his had rented the flat with the understanding it was to be furnished, and had just learned that the landlord did not intend to carry out that phase of the bargain.

Levinson On Stand. Morris G. Levinson, Berg's attorney in various matters for 20 years, was the first witness of the afternoon session. He learned of the kidnaping, Levinson related, from a newspaper account, and telephoned the Berg apartment. Falling in to get in touch with anyone, he drove to the Park-Plaza Hotel with his son, Adrian, and there conferred with Mrs. Berg.

At that point he testified a note already introduced as an exhibit for the State, as one Mrs. Berg had given him at their first conference. He then arranged for a room at the hotel separate from the Berg apartment, and Mrs. Berg didn't want to worry or bother Mrs. Berg.

"What did you do in this room," he was asked. "I did many things toward getting Mr. Berg returned."

On the following day, Sunday, he said, a note was received directing Berg's friends to get in touch with Joseph J. Lemen, an attorney. Levinson testified his son tried to reach Lemen but failed.

Levinson then attempted to tell, in response to questions, how someone telephoned him Sunday night and asked if he had gotten into touch with Lemen. However, inasmuch as his son had conducted almost all of the conversation, he was not permitted to go into it, although the State demanded he be allowed to tell what he had heard his son say.

On Monday, the witness continued, he went to the room at the Park-Plaza, stayed until 10 a. m., and then, accompanied by Rogers, went to the Levinson office in the Mississippi Valley Trust Building, where "I am waiting for certain things to turn up." He was not permitted to testify what the things were, but as he knew, he was awaiting word from "a man sent to Chicago by a relative of Berg who thought he could effect the release of Berg."

Defense objections became more and more frequent and the court's action in sustaining them made the following testimony vague. "About 1:30 I received a letter, Rogers opened it. We read it."

"At that time did you know a lawyer, Paul A. Richards?" "No." (The question was to establish that no reason for Levinson to have called on Richards or to have anyone else to do so.)

"What did you do after receiving the letter?" "I asked Mr. Rogers a question. 'Did you receive an answer?' he said. 'What occurred?' 'Mr. Rogers made a telephone call.' 'To whom?' A defense objection was sustained and Levinson did not answer.

Hanging Trial

"Mr. Richards said to me," Levinson continued, "I don't know, I don't get this money, you'll be killed." I replied, "I won't be killed. You'll get it all right." Then he left, promising to come back at 10 o'clock and let me know the exact time and place of Mr. Berg's release.

Promise of Release.

"When he came back, I had some people in my private office, so I conferred with him in the library. He said it would be at the corner of 12th and some other street at 12 o'clock. (Circuit Attorney Miller asked him, "It was no Hamilton avenue and the witness replied in the affirmative.") "Then he was adding machine there," he continued, "and I pulled a piece of paper out of it and he wrote down the name of the street on it. I drew a diagram of the four corners. I asked him on which one Mr. Berg would be released, but he could not tell me."

Albert Pike, Berg's Negro chauffeur, who followed his employer on the witness stand, told a story of the kidnapping which the court heard in every detail with that told by Berg.

Following his account of his separation from Berg at a lonely spot on Hall's Ferry road, in St. Louis County, he related how he returned to the city in the car, reported the kidnapping to Berg's friend, Ben Harris, of 9 Kingsbury place, then reported his employer's abduction to Mrs. Berg at their home in the Park Plaza Hotel.

Harris, the friend to whom Berg directed Pike to report the abduction, followed Pike as a State witness. He told how Pike reported the kidnapping and how he himself then called two friends, Max and Sol Ross, and told them of the situation. Then he called Mrs. Berg and discussed her husband's disappearance with her.

Next day, he said he visited the Berg apartment and there got from Mrs. Berg a note written to him the night before by Berg and delivered by special delivery. It was this note placed in evidence yesterday, that Berg told Harris the kidnappers wanted $50,000 ransom.

On the same day, Nov. 7, he continued, he received a phone call at his home about 8 p. m. from a man who directed him to get in touch with Attorney Lemen. He disregarded the message.

$21,427 OBLIGATION TO FIVE SYNDICATES

Of This Group No. 5 and No. 6 May Pay 60 and 65 Pct.—Report Basis for Grand Jury Inquiry.

A tentative audit of records of the E. Davis Realty & Mortgage Co., and eight allied enterprises, on which a grand jury investigation ordered by the Circuit Attorney's the kidnapping which the court heard in every detail with that told by Berg.

Salient disclosures of the audit directed Pike to report the abduction, followed Pike as a State witness. He told how Pike reported the kidnapping and how he himself then called two friends, Max and Sol Ross, and told them of the situation. Then he called Mrs. Berg and discussed her husband's disappearance with her.

Next day, he said he visited the Berg apartment and there got from Mrs. Berg a note written to him the night before by Berg and delivered by special delivery. It was this note placed in evidence yesterday, that Berg told Harris the kidnappers wanted $50,000 ransom.

On the same day, Nov. 7, he continued, he received a phone call at his home about 8 p. m. from a man who directed him to get in touch with Attorney Lemen. He disregarded the message.

SAYS WOMAN TRIED TO MURDER MAID

Chicago Prosecutor Orders Action Against Doctor's Wife and Grocery Clerk.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—State's Attorney John A. Swanson today ordered indictments sought against Mrs. Arnold H. Kegel, wife of the former Chicago Health Commissioner, and Gerald Lee, grocery clerk, charging them with attempted murder of a former maid in the Kegel home.

The maid, Mrs. Mary Ryan, is seriously ill from the effects of mercury poisoning. Later a true bill charging assault to commit murder was reported voted against Mrs. Kegel and Lee.

Dr. Kegel has started suit for divorce, charging that his wife attempted to poison him. Swanson said the State had evidence that poison was administered to Mrs. Ryan, who was to be the chief witness in the divorce suit.

Lee was in custody, and prosecutors said he had made admissions damaging to Mrs. Kegel. Three physicians made strenuous efforts to check the course of the poison and save Mrs. Ryan's life. Dr. Kegel, now conducting his private clinic and out of politics, would not comment on the case.

The Kegels were divorced secretly in Chicago Heights while Dr. Kegel was still Health Commissioner under Mayor William Hale Thompson. They later remarried. Subsequently the physician filed a second suit, this time alleging his wife had tried to poison him.

Mrs. Ryan, the State's Attorney said, was to testify that she, Mrs. Kegel administered a "medicine" in beverages served at meals.

WOMAN SEEKS NOMINATION AS SHERIFF IN COUNTY

Miss Sophia Vogel, 8338 Cozens avenue, Jennings, yesterday filed for the Republican nomination for Sheriff in St. Louis County and announced that men in general and wifebeaters in particular, would be the objects of her attack in the coming campaign.

Miss Vogel, who has been using her maiden name since she was divorced in 1928, is the mother of five children, all of whom are in orphan's homes, according to her statements yesterday. She lives with a sister and brother-in-law. She is the first woman who ever filed for the office in St. Louis County.

15,227 SEE AUTO SHOW IN DAY, GAIN OF 12 PCT.

Attendance Exceeding Last Year's—Sales Records Being Broken.

The twenty-fifth annual St. Louis Automobile Show entered its fifth day at the Mart building, Twelfth boulevard and Spruce street, today with several additional dealers reporting they had surpassed sales records of the entire 1931 show week.

Attendance yesterday was 15,227, about 12 per cent better than that on the fourth day of last year's show.

Several cars that were not in the show the first day or two are attracting wide attention. Among them is a gray Packard twin-six coupe with sharp aerodynamic lines and a cardinal Pierce-Arrow coupe, specially painted for Charlie Barrett, scout of the Cardinals.

Auto Show Notes.

William J. McNamee, president, and W. R. Tracy, general sales manager, of the Hudson Motor Car Co., Detroit, were to attend the show and a dealers' meeting at the Jefferson Hotel today.

I. M. Kauffert, assistant sales manager of the Hupp Motor Car Co., Detroit, was the chief speaker at a meeting of Hupmobile dealers at luncheon at the Claridge Hotel yesterday. J. J. Mick, district sales representative, George Lippe of the Hupp technical department, Russell Snowberger, who will drive the Hupp Comet in the Indianapolis 500-mile race, and George Weber Sr., president of the Weber Implement and Automobile Co., also spoke.

Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon, the movie actors, will be at the auto show from 8 to 10 o'clock tonight. Miss Daniels is Mrs. Lyon in private life.

A committee from the St. Louis Automobile Dealers' Association will meet the actors at Union Station this afternoon at 4 o'clock and escort them to their hotel. At 5 o'clock they will be taken to the show by Joseph A. Schlecht, chairman of the Show Committee. They will be received by Robert E. Lee, manager of the show, and will visit the various displays of cars. Members of the committee who will meet them at the train include L. M. Stewart, president of the dealers' association; Schlecht; Sam Bredson, M. B. Strauss, R. N. Soule and R. C. Frampton.

Two of the wholly new cars for 1932 that are attracting attention are the Packard light eight, which is a companion to the Packard standard and de luxe eight, and the Packard twin six, a 12-cylinder car that is, in a way, a revival of the twin six that was famous back in 1915.

The stately Pierce-Arrow cars, including the new 12-cylinder models, are of special interest, not only because of their power and luxurious appointments, but also because of the exceptionally thorough way in which they are insulated against road and engine noises and vibration as well as against engine heat and odors.

The Graham Blue Streak cars, with their distinctive body lines, their banjo type rear axle mounting, their aluminum cylinder head engines and suspension designed for greater roadability, are inspected by every show visitor. An unusually attractive Graham is a convertible.

Most comprehensive line at the show, in range of models, is Cadillac-La Salle, with the eight, 12 and 16 cylinder Cadillacs and the La Salle eight. It is impossible to show even half of the body styles in the Cadillac line, for they number 62. But enough are on display to indicate the extraordinary range of these cars in luxury appointments and color and upholstery schemes.

A Dodge eight-cylinder chassis, mounted at the end, is revolved by a motor so that everyone can see construction and operating details.

GROUP MEETINGS STARTED TO RAISE $600,000 FOR AID

Professional Men's Division, Headed by John S. Leahy of Bar Association, Organizes.

Professional men, representing law, medicine, dentistry, architecture and engineering, met today in the Board of Public Service room at City Hall, and started their part of the Crisis Campaign to raise $600,000 for emergency unemployment relief, the campaign being set for the week of Feb. 21.

John S. Leahy, president of the St. Louis Bar Association, heads the professional division, one of eight divisions of the campaign, under J. D. Perry, Francis as general chairman.

Leahy suggested to the group, as to the amount to be asked from lawyers, physicians and others in the professional classification, that they ask at least 25 per cent of what the person gave to the Community Fund, if the subscription to that fund had been an adequate one. He said that, as about $2,400,000 had been raised in the Community Fund Campaign, in which the Citizens' Committee on Relief and Employment was included, it would take an average addition of 25 per cent to give the $600,000 now sought.

Volunteers Free Dental Work.

Dr. O. W. Brandhorst, speaking for the dentists, said their professional earnings had been greatly impaired in the last year, and he suggested that some who could not give money might donate free dental service to needy individuals. The chairman replied that the present effort was a money-raising

There was general agreement that the past year had been a bad one for members of all professions, but all those present agreed to "go along" with the plans outlined. By the chairman's suggestion, it was agreed that each man present should submit the names of 25 others in his own profession, to be called into the work of obtaining subscriptions in the Crisis Campaign. Professional men who have salaried office staffs will be asked to obtain subscriptions for them, as in business establishments.

Those attending the professional men's meeting were C. H. Kraft, electrical engineer; A. H. Baum, civil engineer; Eugene S. Klein and J. P. Jamieson, architects; Drs. Elsworth S. Smith, A. N. Blancy and C. E. Hyndman, physicians, and Dr. George B. Winter and O. W. Brandhorst, dentists. The names of Dr. Francis Reder, newly elected president of the St. Louis Medical Society, and Dr. C. C. Mogler, head of the Dental Society, were added to the committee roster.

Headquarters of the Crisis Committee as a central body will be in the City Hall rotunda and in the offices recently vacated by the Election Board. Office equipment is being lent by various concerns and from city offices.

Members Are Notified.

Jules R. Field, secretary to the mayor, who has been made director of the campaign, is giving his time to this work, and was occupied yesterday in notifying the members of various divisions of the Crisis Committee of their appointments. The announcement was made by Mayor Miller and the original group of conferees was that the leaders would be "conscripted" in a "command campaign."

The plan first announced, on which the campaign is working, is for obtaining monthly contributions according to the means of the givers, with a graded list of monthly amounts for corporations, professional men and executives, and a 1 per cent scale for employees.

DISCOVERS HOW TO PIERCE ARMOR OF PNEUMONIA GERM

Dr. O. T. Avery of New York to Receive $1500 Prize of Physicians' Prize.

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 11.—Discovery of how to pierce the protective "armor" of a pneumonia germ, making possible its destruction, has brought to Dr. O. T. Avery of New York a $1500 prize from the American College of Physicians.

Award of the prize to Dr. Avery, who is on the staff of the hospital of the Rockefeller Institute, was announced today. The prize is given in memory of Dr. John Phillips of Cleveland, O., who died while engaged in rescue work at the Cleveland clinic disaster of May 15, 1929.

Dr. Avery not only found how to pierce the pneumonia germ's armor, but was first to discover that it had this armor, or protective covering that shielded it from destruction. He then discovered another microbe which gives off a substance that dissolves the protective covering. The pneumonia germ then is open to attack by the white corpuscles in the pneumonia patient's blood, which destroy it.

Dr. Avery will receive the prize April 6, during the annual clinical session of the College of Physicians in San Francisco.

DRIVER HELD IN DEATH OF BLANCHE E. BROGAN

Verdict of Criminal Carelessness Returned Against James Martin by Coroner's Jury.

A Coroner's verdict of criminal carelessness was returned today in the death of Miss Blanche E. Brogan, 34 years old, 1435 Warren street, who died Tuesday night of injuries suffered on Nov. 11, when she was struck by a truck at Thirtieth and North Market streets.

The verdict named James Martin, 23, 1911 Hickory street, driver of the truck, which he had rented. Police testified that the machine was tested at the police garage and was found to have defective brakes and steering apparatus, and there were no bulbs in the headlights. Martin, who is at liberty on $5000 bond, did not testify.

Miss Brogan, a sister of State Senator Joseph Brogan, was an active Democratic political worker.

SEAMSTRESS HANGS HERSELF

Body of Miss Katherine Geyer, 53, Found in Basement.

The body of Miss Katherine Geyer, 53 years old, a seamstress, was found hanging in the basement of her home, 3229 Lafayette avenue, at 5 p. m. yesterday.

She had made a noose of clothesline and had stepped from a chair. A note addressed to her roommate, Miss Jean Truham, who found the body, directed that a brother, George Geyer, 6205 Walsh street, when certain conditions have been performed that assure the stability of the government when it is established.

Hawes told Hurley he was the only witness to appear before Senate or House committees who had not set a definite date for Philippine independence.

Hurley replied he was "proud" of that as he "never followed the band-wagon." He remarked that the witnesses "might have had their hands a little singed" if they had said they were against independence.

Hurley said all the business men who had testified had interests in the Philippines or in insular trade. "Every one of them," he said, "set the date for independence not at a time he thought would be for the general welfare of the Philippine Islands, but at a date which would give him ample time to liquidate or at a time when his four score years and ten would have expired."

He added he had "no adverse criticism" of this attitude.

In answer to a question from Senator Robinson (Rep.), Indiana, he said, "You can't honorably" refuse a grant of independence to the Philippines sooner or later.

CLARENCE HOWARD LEFT $3,085,000, INVENTORY SHOWS

Seventy-Five Per Cent Goes to Widow and Rest to Son Under the Terms of Steel Man's Will.

The estate of Clarence H. Howard, steel manufacturer and donor of large amounts to charity, is valued at $3,085,119 in an inventory filed in Probate Court at Clayton today. Bonds and coupons compose the major portion of the estate, amounting to $2,376,438.

The will left his entire estate to the widow and son, Clarence H. Howard Jr., in shares of 75 per cent to Mrs. Howard and 25 per cent to his son.

In addition to the bonds, other items in the estate are stocks valued at $525,409, real estate at $132,410, goods and chattels at $6225 and $45,237 in cash.

United States Government bonds compose approximately two-thirds of the bond holdings. The major items are United States Panama Canal Loan bonds, valued at $497,040; United States Conversions, $229,200; Treasury bonds at $414,156. Other kinds of bonds are Missouri State road bonds, valued at $86,250, and minor classes of Federal Land Bank, public building, improvement bonds and bonds of Christian Science churches.

The stocks are principally 1350 preferred shares of General Motors at $119,981 and 1000 shares of Duquesne Light Co. at $95,000. Railroad stocks are 500 shares of Santa Fe, 600 of Union Pacific and smaller amounts with other roads. A block of 2898 shares of the Commonwealth Steel Co., of which Howard was president before a merger with the General Steel Castings Corporation, and 456 shares of common stock of the latter corporation are listed at nominal value. Preferred shares of the General Steel Castings Corporation listed number 1167 valued at $50,672.

The Howard estate on Lackland road in St. Louis County is valued at $75,000, other property at 5501 Barmter avenue at $25,000, and lots on the northeast corner of Chamberlain and Belt avenues at $12,000.

Mr. Howard died Dec. 7, 1931. His will made no provision for philanthropic benefactions. Howard's son announcing that such gifts had been made before death. He gave liberally to The Principia, a school for children of Christian Scientists, to the Boy Scouts, the Community Fund and other charities.

SPECIAL MASTER FOR SALE OF CHAIN OF ROCKS BRIDGE

James J. O'Connor, Clerk of Federal Court, Chosen for Foreclosure Proceedings.

James J. O'Connor, Clerk of Federal Court, was appointed by Federal Judge Faris yesterday as special master to sell the Chain of Rocks highway bridge over the Mississippi River, under a consent foreclosure decree. O'Connor was chosen at the request of all parties to the proceedings, under which a receiver was appointed for the company on June 1.

The receivership was due to a default in interest on $1,400,000 on first mortgage bonds and $600,000 on second mortgage bonds.

Representatives of the bond and debenture holders have contemplated reorganization of the business. The bridge and approach roads, a $2,000,000 investment, were opened on July 20, 1929.

NOTORIOUS CORSICAN BANDIT WOUNDED AND CAPTURED

Gendarmes Attack Him in Mountain Retreat Which Was Defended by Machine Gun.

By the Associated Press.

AJACCIO, Corsica, Feb. 11.—The notorious bandit M. Torres, a member of the outlaw gang which terrorized Corsica last fall, was captured today after being wounded by gendarmes.

Torres, who refused to yield earlier in the winter when a campaign by the gendarmes resulted in the capture or surrender of several bandit leaders, was found in a hiding place in the mountains yesterday. His retreat was defended by a machine gun. The gendarmes attacked and a hot skirmish ensued, but Torres escaped in the confusion. The police took up the trail and found him suffering from bullet wounds, hiding in a mountain crater.

A special force was sent to Corsica late last fall to stamp out the terrorists, and succeeded in killing or capturing many of the more notorious leaders who levied tribute on the citizens.

PLOT TO WRECK OWL DRUG CO. CHARGED IN RECEIVERSHIP SUIT

Damages of $15,000,000 Sought From Three Firms Which Figured in Merger.

By the Associated Press.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 11.—Conspiracy to wreck the Owl Drug Co. is charged in a suit filed in Superior Court by W. W. Hundman, a stockholder, in behalf of the concern. Hundman demands receivership, declaring that otherwise the company is threatened with insolvency.

The suit is directed at the United Drug, Inc., which allegedly acquired most of the common stock of the Owl firm, beginning about Jan. 1, 1930. It asks for damages of $15,000,000 and an accounting.

Hundman's petition declares the defendants caused the San Francisco manufacturing plant to be dismantled and transferred control of the New York plant to the United Drug Co.

In the 20 years the Owl company has been in business, Hundman said, it had earned net profits of $4,990,000, which he said brought the market value of the stock to well above its par value of $100, but after the merger, he added, the stock's value deteriorated, "and will continue to do so."

The suit sets a $10,000,000 value on the company's good will.

MEETING OF G. O. P. STATE COMMITTEE IS A DRAB AFFAIR

It Is Expected to Approve Plan for Convention in St. Louis Drafted by Leaders.

By CURTIS A. BETTES.

The absence of a contest for the Republican nomination for President this year, resulting in a knowledge by Republicans that delegates elected to the National convention in Chicago June 12 will meet only for the purpose of giving to President Hoover a certificate of endorsement in the form of a resolution, served to make the meeting of the Republican State Committee at Hotel Jefferson today rather a drab affair.

In advance of the meeting there appeared no possibility of a difference of opinion on any subject to come before the committee. It is the expectation that late today the committee will approve State convention plans prepared in advance by Dr. E. B. Clements, National Committeeman and Arthur M. Curtis, chairman of the State Committee.

State Convention Plan.

These provide for a State convention to be held in St. Louis, probably late in April and the selection of 41 delegates to the national convention—32 district delegates with three-fourths of a vote each, and nine delegates-at-large with a full vote each, making the 41 votes allotted to Missouri by the National convention.

To avoid throwing the selection of delegates into the State convention with the possibility that there might not be an even geographical apportionment, the party heads worked out a plan for the selection of district delegates at meetings in the old 16 Congressional districts with fractional votes, and the selection of nine delegates-at-large.

This will make possible recognition of the local party leaders in all districts in the State, and also recognition as delegates-at-large of Senator Patterson, Gov. Caulfield and men who have been liberal contributors to Republican campaign funds.

While under the official call Missouri is entitled to only 43 seats in the national convention, and the Clements-Curtis plan will provide for 41, Curtis said he had been assured from national headquarters that payoffs would be made for a delegation of 41 in view of the unusual situation in Missouri occasioned by the failure to redistrict the State. The National Committee had contemplated 26 district delegates and seven delegates-at-large.

State Ticket Discussed.

The absence of any real contest between presidential candidates caused the Republicans here for the committee meeting and the annual Lincoln day banquet of the Association of Young Republicans tomorrow, to devote most of their time to a discussion of the contests for nomination for State offices, the race between Lieutenant-Governor Winter and Secretary of State Charles U. Becker attracting particular attention.

Virtually all the heads of State departments, who are supporting Winter, were on hand, and Becker was flanked by many of those editors of rural Republican newspapers to whom he has been distributing official printing for the last 11 years.

Simultaneously with the committee meeting, the Missouri Republican Editorial Association, considered largely a Becker organization, was in session at the American Hotel.

Chief interest in the association's proceedings is in the election of a president, the candidates for whom support is being sought being Maurice Covert of Houston, now treasurer; Congressman David Hopkins of St. Joseph and Mercer Arnold of Joplin.

Supporters of Becker for the governorship are generally lining up with Arnold, while there is a division of the anti-Becker forces between Hopkins and Covert. It appeared this division probably would be diplomatically settled before the meeting, however, in an effort to prevent the possibility of even a Becker victory through the election of Arnold. According to the custom, the Treasurer usually is advanced to the presidency. If this custom is followed, the place will go to Covert.

Wet Pleds to Editors.

Through the activity of the Crusaders, a wet organization, an attempt will be made to have the association take a position on prohibition, but there is little indication that such action will be taken.

The attitude of the party leaders today, however, was that as they had been rather successful in the past in leaving to the Democrats a division within the party over prohibition, they were inclined to follow their old plan and not permit the subject to be officially an issue within the Republican party.

Byrd in New York to See Smith.

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Former Gov. Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, who has been mentioned for the Democratic presidential nomination, arrived in New York today to see Alfred E. Smith. "I'm here on business," he said, "and to see some friends of mine." Among the friends, he said, were Smith and James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic State Committee and Gov. Roosevelt's unofficial campaign manager.

DIRECTED VERDICT FREES GANGSTERS AT TRIAL IN IOWA

Four St. Louisans, Two Under Indictment in Grand Bank Case. Win Freedom at Des Moines.

St. Louis to the Post-Dispatch. DES MOINES, Ia., Feb. 11.—A directed verdict today acquitted four St. Louis gangsters, two of them under indictment in St. Louis as participants in the $1,000,000 Grand National Bank robbery, who were on trial here, charged with attempted burglary of the Capital City State Bank last Dec. 12.

The men acquitted are Wincel Urban and John Luger, indicted in the Grand National case, Edward (Speedy) Withite, Cuckoo gangster and former convict, and William Engler, one-time member of the Egan gang and one of the most active criminals operating in the Middle West.

Judge Loy Ladd in District Court ruled that the charges on which the four were being tried pertained to the holdup of a bank. Judge Ladd held that the evidence showed only that the four were attempting to go through the bank wall when apprehended and that a charge of burglary would be more appropriate.

County Attorney Missilline said the men would be brought to trial in the March term of court on a charge of possession of burglary tools.

The Court's ruling came as a surprise following argument of defense counsel at the opening of today's session. The State concluded its case yesterday. The defendants, it was understood, offered to plead guilty some time ago and take 15 years in prison apiece, rather than stand trial with the possibility that they might receive life imprisonment plus 35 years, the maximum for the offenses with which they were charged.

More than two dozen witnesses testified for the State and prosecution exhibits numbered more than 60, including acetylene and oxygen tanks, electrical equipment, nitro-glycerin, bars, jimmies and other burglar tools.

One witness, George Richter, vice president of the bank, testified there was more than $80,000 in cash in the vault the St. Louisans are accused of trying to enter. He was unable to place an estimate on the value of customers' property in the safe deposit boxes.

R. C. McLean, State Chemist, testified the content of a bottle found by police with burglar tools was nitroglycerin.

The courtroom was crowded and at the afternoon session Judge Ladd frequently interrogated witnesses from the bench. Following receipt of news that Wincel Urban and John Luger, indicted in the Grand National Bank robbery, had been acquitted today, Francis X. Reller, chief clerk of the Circuit Attorney's office, telegraphed Des Moines authorities asking that the two men be held for St. Louis. The men probably will not be turned over, however, in view of County Attorney Missilline's statement that they would be tried in Des Moines next month for possession of burglar tools.

SUPREME COURT TO DECIDE IF CITY IS LIABLE IN AUTO CRASH
Division No. 1 Unable to Agree on Decision Involving Defective Traffic Signal

JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—A suit involving the liability of the City of St. Louis for payment of damages to an individual injured in an automobile accident, which was attributed to failure of an automatic traffic signal at a street intersection to function properly, was transferred to the Missouri Supreme Court in bank today, for rehearing, after Division No. 1, of the Court was unable to reach a majority decision.

The case is the first reaching the Court in which the question of liability of a city for damages, arising from defective operation of an automatic traffic signal, is presented for decision.

Of the four judges in Division No. 1, Chief Justice F. E. Atwood and Judge W. F. Frank concurred in an opinion holding the city was not liable. Judges W. T. Ragland and B. S. Gantt dissented, resulting in no decision. The case will be reheard by the seven judges in Court in bank.

Commissioner John T. Sturgis, in Division No. 1, wrote the opinion holding the city was not liable, on the ground the maintenance and operation of automatic traffic signals for the regulation of traffic and promotion of public safety was an exercise by the city of its governmental power, and that the city could not be held liable for negligence in this respect.

The case involved a claim for damages by Mrs. Anna Auslander, who was injured when an automobile driven by her husband collided with another automobile at the intersection of Leonard and Belle avenues. The evidence showed the automatic traffic signal at that point was not functioning properly at the time. The St. Louis Circuit Court sustained a demurrer to the suit by the city and Mrs. Auslander appealed.

Salma, Mo. Bank Closed. Special to the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Feb. 11.—The Bank of Salma, in Salma, Bollinger County, with deposits of $151,000, was closed today by one directors and the State Finance Department notified to take charge. The bank listed total assets of $85,347.

LAWYER, AWAITING TRIAL KILLS HIMSELF IN CHURCH

Defendant in Will Case Had Attended Services Before Ending Life.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., Feb. 11.—Samuel W. Emery, 48 years old, lawyer, after attending A.W. Wednesday services in Christ's Episcopal Church yesterday shot himself to death in the church basement. The shooting occurred while a Superior Court jury at Manchester awaited his appearance as a defendant in a will case.

Emery was a member of the State Democratic Committee, a former holder of several public offices in this city, and had been treasurer of the church for several years. After the services he walked slowly from the auditorium, exchanging greetings at the door with Charles Johnson, who with him in two minutes Johnson heard what he thought to be the blowing of an electric fuse and went into the basement. He found Emery dead on the floor. Dr. Eugene H. Eastman, medical examiner, said Emery had fired one shot toward his heart and a second into his head.

In Emery's brief case found beside the body were several documents concerning the estate of the late David Gould Hunt. Hunt's sister, Josephine L. Hunt, Manchester, was suing the estate for $11,000. As administrator, Emery was to have been the defendant.

Funeral of John T. Kaemmerlen. The funeral of John T. Kaemmerlen, chief clerk of the American Car and Foundry Co., St. Charles, was held today from St. Charles Borromeo Church to St. Charles Borromeo Cemetery. Mr. Kaemmerlen, who was 71 years old, died Monday of uremia following a fall two weeks ago. He was born in France, came to America in 1873 and was employed by the car company for 40 years. He is survived by his widow, three daughters, three sons, 23 grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

EX-MILLIONAIRE CONVICTED OF PASSING BAD CHECK

Gave Worthless Paper for Loans Obtained From Restaurant Proprietor.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Joseph H. Hoadley, who once handled millions in Wall street, was convicted yesterday of passing a bad check for $1037.

The hearing disclosed that Hoadley, now 57 years old, had borrowed small amounts from a restaurant proprietor, Angelo Pisci, for room and board. Pisci brought the charges. It was testified Hoadley asked Pisci to hold the check, saying he was going to Montreal to collect $100,000. The former millionaire said he still would repay the amount, if given time. Beginning as a mechanic's apprentice in San Francisco, he had a spectacular rise, organized traction and transit companies and dealt in cotton. De Soto Election Called Off. Plans for a special election Feb. 28 to vote on a proposed $50,000 bond issue to erect a municipal electric plant at De Soto, Mo., were abandoned last night by vote of the City Council. The issue was opposed by the Chamber of Commerce and the Lions Club. The Union Electric Light and Power Co. supplies electricity for De Soto.

SHARTEL NOT TO RUN AGAIN
Jefferson City, Feb. 11.—Attorney-General SharTEL said in a formal statement yesterday he had decided not to become a candidate for re-election or for Governor.

"It would be entirely too much of a financial sacrifice to continue in office as Attorney-General for another four years," he said. He declared he would support Henry Depping, Kansas City, formerly an assistant in his office, for Attorney-General, "if he should decide to run."

DEPRESSION'S EFFECT ON STYLES DISCUSSED
Miss Catherine Greenough Addresses Retailers—Visitors Will Attend Theater Tonight

The final educational session of the seventeenth semi-annual convention of the American Retailers' Association was held last night at Hotel Statler, embodying the effect of the depression on styles and the present day tendency to insist on full value for every dollar expended.

Members of the association will attend a presentation of "Allison's House" by the Little Theater players at the Orpheum tonight. Directors will hold their semi-annual meeting tomorrow.

Interest in home furnishings and handwork has been stimulated by the depression, Miss Catherine Greenough, stylist for Saks, Baer & Fuller, said. Women are psychologically ready for anything that looks as though it were home made, she said.

Miss Greenough detailed several style tendencies, including a clinging waist line and methods of making effective the present fashion silhouette. The bi-centennial celebration of Washington's birthday is reflected in styles smacking of Colonial days, she said.

Carter D. Poland, Anniston, Ala., soap manufacturer, pointed out that economic conditions have failed to alter human nature and that sales may be made if people are satisfied they are getting more for their money than was the case during the boom period. He advocated the consistent use of newspaper advertising, adapted to conditions in various communities.

CHARLES V. BOB BLOCKED AGAIN IN $17,000,000 SUIT
By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Charles V. Bob, mining engineer and stock promoter, lost for the second time yesterday in his attempt to sue August Heckcher of the Consolidated Chromium Corporation for $17,000,000 damages.

Heckcher previously sued Bob for damages, contending the engineer induced him to buy shares of the Chromium Corporation on false representations. Bob promptly filed an answer and counterclaim. He said he had turned over to the company valuable options and mining claims, and that while he was absent from New York, and "believed dead," Heckcher and others assumed control, converted his proposed control, and then ousted him from the company. He asked for $17,000,000. Action was dismissed, and he brought it again. It was dismissed yesterday by Supreme Court Justice Edward S. Dora, who held whatever cause of action Bob has is against the company, not Heckcher. The Court ruled he might file a third answer.

Bob has another suit pending in the same case for $25,000,000 damages.

Toss—Toss—Toss—All Night Long!
Sleepless Nights a Penalty of Acidity

When you go to bed at night tired and exhausted and still can't sleep, you toss fitfully on your bed all night long, trying first one position and then another, it's almost a sure sign that you are "acid." Excess of acid in the stomach as a result of our unnatural living habits, causes acid-indigestion with excess acid, burning and gas. It also plays havoc with our nerves, making us irritable, fidgety and restless at night, that we can't sleep, even though we be dog-tired.

Magnesia Oxids, developed in Germany by a famous, 110-year-old pharmaceutical house, corrects acidity in the right way! Upon contact with the acid in the stomach, Magnesia Oxids generate nascent, or active, oxygen. The "live" oxygen stimulates the alkaline gastric mucus, checks putrefaction in the gastro-intestinal canal and stimulates the activities of the intestinal walls which aids the natural movements of the bowels. All three effects are necessary to the true correction of acidity.

Make This Acidity Test

To ascertain just how "acid" you are, make this test: Get a package of Magnesia Oxids from any drug store. Take two after each meal and see how much better you feel—how much more soundly you sleep and how much more energy you have. If, after taking the contents of one bottle, you don't get more than amazing results, return the bottle to the drugist and he will refund the purchase price promptly. For sale by all good druggists.

JAPAN'S LARGE GOLD SHIPMENTS
Has Sent $25,500,000 to U. S. Since Jan. 1.

By the Associated Press.
SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 11.—Shipments of gold from Japan to the United States since the first of the year total approximately $25,500,000, customs officials here said yesterday.

Since Japan first sent troops into Manchuria last September, they add, the shipments have totaled $181,370,000. Shipments this week were $5,000,000 in bullion which arrived Sunday and $13,500,000 which reached Seattle Tuesday night, en route to the San Francisco mint. The gold will be held here and placed to Japan's credit.

STOP THAT COLD

DISTRESSING cold in chest or throat—that so often leads to something serious—generally responds to good old Musterole with the first application. Should be more effective if used once every hour for five hours. This famous blend of oil of mustard, camphor, menthol and other helpful ingredients brings relief naturally. Musterole gets action because it is a scientific "counter-irritant"—not just a salve—it penetrates and stimulates blood circulation, helps to draw out infection and pain. Used by millions for 20 years. Recommended by doctors and nurses.

To Mothers—Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.

HERE'S WHY
EVEREADY RAYTHEON TUBES
HAVE 4 PILLARS INSTEAD OF 2

A RADIO tube is as sensitive as a finely built watch. Its accuracy in operation depends on keeping every delicate part in exact position. The slightest dislocation of its elements results in faulty tone, lack of power and harsh noises. If a tube is to keep its accuracy, it must be protected against the dangerous jolts and vibration that all tubes receive in handling and usage.

Only Eveready Raytheon Tubes have four sturdy pillars to hold their elements firmly in place. Their accuracy is permanently safeguarded by four rigid supports, one at each corner of a square. All other tubes have only two supports.

That's the reason for the immense improvement in tone which you notice with 4-pillar tubes. Accuracy to the thousandth of an inch—protected by solid strength!

Your dealer can demonstrate the superiority of 4-pillar tubes. Compare them tube for tube with others, and the difference is amazing. But to realize what an enormous improvement they can make in a radio, install a complete set of 4-pillar tubes . . . then listen!

"JAKE THE BARBER"

FREED BY U. S. JUDGE

Charge Not Felony Under Illinois Law and Therefore Not Extraditable.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Feb. 11.—Federal Judge George A. Carpenter today dismissed John (Jake the Barber) Factor, wanted in England for an alleged $7,000,000 stock swindle, holding that the charge was not a felony under Illinois law and therefore not extraditable.

Factor has been in jail since a United States Commissioner ordered him extradited.

The United States District Judge upheld the contentions of Factor's counsel and sustained the habeas corpus proceedings in his behalf, thereby throwing out the decision of United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker, who had ordered the prisoner returned to England after months of hearings.

Another Federal Judge, Louis Fitzhugh, previously had ruled against Factor in a similar habeas corpus action, his decision on the point of law being exactly opposite to Judge Carpenter's.

Factor was arrested last May 20, surrendering on a warrant sworn out by the British Consul, Godfrey Haggard. Since then he constantly has been in the custody of a Federal Marshal, declining to furnish the $50,000 bail the court fixed. He was discharged from custody today.

The British Government appealed from Judge Carpenter's decision and the court fixed Factor's appeal bond at $50,000. The case will be taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals.

Aid, Gets 21 Months in Prison in London.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Arthur J. Klein, alleged associate of John (Jake the Barber) Factor of Chicago, has been sentenced to prison for 21 months after conviction here on a charge of receiving more than $250,000 (about $1,250,000 at par) which he knew had been unlawfully obtained.

Klein, who had been on trial for 11 days, was acquitted of other charges. His counsel argued that until he became associated with Factor, whose banking accounts he managed, "nothing could be said to the detriment of his character."

1,226,000 POUNDS OF FOOD

GIVEN AWAY IN FOUR MONTHS

Welcome Inn, the relief station beneath the Free Bridge, from Oct. 1 to Feb. 1 gave away 1,226,940 pounds of food at a cost of $3755. It was said today by Mrs. Nat. Brown, general chairman. About 6000 baskets of food are distributed there each Wednesday and Saturday.

The organization is conducting a campaign for contributions of articles to be sold at auction next month. Donated articles are on exhibition at the Glancy Building, Eighteenth street and Washington avenue, where the auction will be held.

Contributions yesterday included four automobile tires, an order for a $50 oil portrait, five orders on a laundry, a pair of blankets, a $10 grocery order and a $10 order on a garage for gasoline and oil.

AUTO DEALER AT ALTON

SHOT TO DEATH IN OFFICE

W. C. Nichols Had Been Under Treatment for Alcoholism; Pistol on Floor Near Body.
W. C. Nichols, Alton automobile dealer, was found fatally wounded yesterday afternoon in his office at 113 West Fourth street. He had been under treatment for alcoholism and had been arrested by Alton police yesterday morning, but released upon his promise to go home.

Mal. F. N. Henderson of the faculty of Western Military Academy found Nichols unconscious when he called at the office at 2 o'clock. There was a bullet wound in Nichols' head and a revolver on the floor nearby. Nichols died an hour later at St. Joseph's Hospital. Nichols, who was 33 years old, had been in the automobile business eight years. He is survived by his widow and two children.

Youth Dies of Broken Back Suffered in Accident on Truck.

The will of Wesley Krueger, 13 years old, 4117 Northland avenue, who died last week of a broken back suffered June 3, 1930, was filed yesterday. He left his estate, the principal asset being a $35,000 judgment, to his brother, Lester Krueger, and sister, Olivia Lloyd, declaring he did not want his father to have any share.

The judgment is against the Dyer-O'Hare Hauling Co., owner of a truck on which Krueger was riding when he was injured, and the Public Service Co. It is pending on appeal.

OLIVE OIL—the great beauty oil

this much goes into every cake of Palmolive

Startling? Yes! And so vital in modern beauty care that 20,000 beauty specialists have united in recommending the daily use of Palmolive.

Olive oil is nature's great beautifier. It soothes, penetrates and protects the skin.

But, can you get enough olive oil in soap? Palmolive answers: YES! And shows you just how much of this priceless ingredient is blended with oil from palm trees in the famous Palmolive formula.

Other soaps? You don't know what's in them. How can you risk using them on your skin?

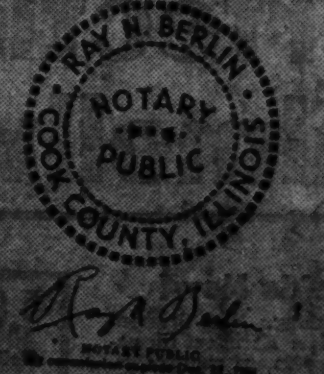

Palmolive labels every cake: made of olive and palm oils. That's why more than 20,000 beauty experts have, for years, urged its use.

They believe in the beauty value of olive oil in soap. Listen to their advice. Use Palmolive to protect skin, to keep it young.

Keep that Schoolgirl Complexion

This is to certify that this tube contains the exact amount of olive oil that goes into every 10c cake of Palmolive Soap.

TWO NEW PAYING ORDINANCES TO REPLACE PROPOSED BILLS

Objections to Natural Bridge Plan Causes One Revision; Palm Street Job Altered.

The Board of Public Service today decided to draft two new street paying ordinances to replace proposed bills, which met with objection from property owners.

The first project was for paving Natural Bridge avenue, from Goodfellow avenue to the city limits, at a cost of $47,000, of which 40 per cent was to be taken from bond issue funds. Property owners objected in the belief that an underpass would eventually be built at Goodfellow avenue for which they would be assessed. The new ordinance would eliminate the cause for objection.

The other bill to be redrafted is for the paving of Palm street from North Florissant avenue to Twenty-fifth street, and the paving of Natural Bridge avenue, from Twenty-fifth street to Garrison avenue, at a cost estimated at $195,000, of which 80 per cent would be from bond issue funds. This bill will be changed to include a number of engineering alterations.

FOUR TEXAS PROFESSORS ACCUSED OF TEACHING ATHEISM

Baptist Pastor, Reiterates Charges to President of Technological College.

By the Associated Press. LUBBOCK, Tex., Feb. 11.—Four members of the faculty of Texas Technological College, a State institution, were designated yesterday by the Rev. R. C. Campbell, Baptist pastor, as being "guilty of teaching atheism and infidelity to students."

At a conference with President Paul W. Horn, the minister reiterated accusations he had made from his pulpit. Names of the professors were withheld pending an investigation by Horn.

The university head said students and the accused professors would receive a hearing.

TROTSKY'S AID REPORTED DEAD

Prof. Slutsky, Anti-Stalin Man, Said to Have Killed Self.

By the Associated Press. BERLIN, Feb. 11.—The newspaper Boersen Courier today said it had learned from a good source that Prof. A. G. Slutsky, former close associate of the exiled Leon Trotsky, had killed himself in Moscow after being charged with counter revolutionary activity.

Prof. Slutsky was once expelled from the Communist party for questioning the orthodoxy of Lenin's early Bolshevism. More recently, however, he had been known as one of Joseph Stalin's chief opponents. The charges against him were brought at the recent all-union party conference, the Boersen Courier said.

STATE INQUIRY VOTED BY NEW YORK SENATE

Democrats Call Proposal Far-ther But Republicans Put It Through.

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 11.—The Republican Senate of New York has adopted a resolution to investigate the State administration headed by Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt.

The Republicans brushed aside Democratic opposition and put through the resolution for an inquiry into every department and subdivision of the State government.

Introduced over the name of Charles J. Hewitt, chairman of the Finance Committee, the resolution was patterned after that by which the Legislature last year began its investigation into the affairs of New York City.

After passage by a strictly party vote, 27 to 21, the measure was sent to the Assembly, where, again with Republican guidance, its passage is considered certain.

The investigating body of five Republicans, under the resolution, would be permitted to continue its work through the summer and fall—well into the national campaign in which friends hope to nominate and elect Roosevelt to the Presidency.

Undertaken ostensibly to find out why State budget obligations amount to $201,000,000, the resolution was branded by a Democratic Senator, William T. Byrne of Albany, as purely an attempt to find "ammunition for the campaign—State and national—in 1932."

Senator Henry G. Schackno, New York City Democrat, introduced several amendments intended to make the investigation open to the public, non-political in character and finally to include two Democrats on the committee the Republican steam roller flattened them out.

Schackno observed "I am now satisfied it is to be a partisan investigation. I am quite confident the people will understand the motive."

Senator John J. McNaboe, Tammany Democrat, warned the Republicans "on next election day you will find out how smart you are."

The committee is charged with the duty of inquiring into the functions, financial requirements, general condition and management of each State department "for the purpose of determining whether or not the said departments, boards, bureaus, commissions, offices, institutions and agencies are over-manned, necessary and are operated and conducted upon an economical basis."

SAVE WITH SAFETY

A man can build a substantial estate in thirty years by saving a certain amount each year—

OR—

He can create the same estate in thirty minutes and take thirty years to pay for it.

One plan is as good as the other—IF—he is sure of living thirty years.

BUT—

If he is not absolutely certain that he will live thirty years and enjoy good health in the meantime... then the life insurance plan is the only way that he can be assured that the amount of the estate he plans will be paid in full whether he lives for thirty years or dies tomorrow.

AND LISTEN!

If he becomes disabled and draws money from his savings account, that amount is deducted from his estate. Whereas, he can draw disability benefits from his life insurance estate without any deductions whatever from the amount of the policy.

"FLOATING GAMBLING PALACES"

HIT BY BILL IN SENATE
Johnson Measure Is Approved by Commerce Committee; Transfer Bounties Need Permits.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—The Senate Commerce Committee today approved a bill aimed to break up "floating gambling palaces" outside the three-mile limits of American shores.

Introduced by Senator Johnson (Rep.), California, it would require small vessels carrying passengers to and from "stationary ships or barges" outside the three-mile limit to obtain a navigation permit. Permits would be denied if it were found the stationary vessels were what Senator Johnson described as "glided palaces of vice."

A report from Arthur J. Tyner, Commissioner of Navigation, favored the bill. It said the measure should place in the Government's hands "an effective means of preventing a practice growing up along our coasts which is meeting with the condemnation of citizens generally in the localities where such vessels are anchored."

A CLEAR COMPLEXION

Ruddy cheeks—sparkling eyes—most women can have. Dr. F. M. Edwards for 20 years treated scores of women for liver and bowel ailments. During these years he gave his patients a substitute for calomel made of a few well-known vegetable ingredients, naming them Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. Know them by their olive color.

These tablets are wonder-workers on the liver and bowels, causing a normal action, carrying off the waste and poisonous matter in one's system. If you have a pale face, hollow look, dull eyes, pimples, coated tongue, headaches, a listless, no-good feeling, all out of sorts, inactive bowels, take one of Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets nightly for a time and note the pleasing results. Thousands of women and men take Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets now and then to keep fit. 15c, 50c and 60c.

Dizzy
Start thorough bowel action when you feel dizzy, headache, biliousness, take NATURE'S REMEDY—DR. EDWARDS' OLIVE TABLETS. It's mild, safe, purely vegetable, and far better than ordinary laxatives. Keep your selling right. See.

MAN, WIFE KILLED
WHEN TRAIN HITS
AUTO AT CROSSING

Mr. and Mrs. William Dauer Victims of Collision With L. & N. at 25th Street in East St. Louis.

William Dauer, a railroad warehouse foreman, of 1720 Ohio avenue, East St. Louis, and his wife were killed when an automobile in which they were riding was struck at 10:30 o'clock last night by a Louisville & Nashville Railroad passenger train at the Twenty-fifth street crossing of the company's tracks in East St. Louis. Dauer was 66 years old and his wife 72.

Dauer was killed outright when caught in the wreckage of his automobile, which was carried along the tracks in front of the engine for 100 feet. He was employed by the Illinois Central Railroad.

Mrs. Dauer, who was thrown from the automobile when the engine struck it, died an hour later from a fractured skull at St. Mary's Hospital, East St. Louis. They were going home after visiting a son, John Dauer, at 1627 North Park drive, East St. Louis. The crossing is more than 50 feet wide, being a series of tracks protected by gates, a tower and watchman. The gates were not lowered.

Anthony Prader of 1217 North Fourteenth street, East St. Louis, the watchman, told police he was standing in the center of the crossing waving a red lantern and Dauer either did not see his signal or tried to cross ahead of the train, which was rebound from St. Louis to Nashville, Tenn. Dauer was driving south.

The crew stopped the train and removed the wreckage. Twenty-fifth street is a main cross-town thoroughfare. Besides John Dauer, two other sons, William and Joseph, and a daughter, Mrs. Frank Ganschnietz, and a stepson, John W. Quinn, survive.

COLD WAVE IN EUROPE EXTENDS TO MARSEILLES

Five Deaths in Belgium; Traffic Tied Up by Cakes and Heavy Snow.

By the Associated Press.
LONDON, Feb. 11.—The cold wave which swept out of the Arctic yesterday had invaded Europe today as far south as Marseilles, France, on the Mediterranean. Numerous deaths have occurred.

Most of the Continent was buried in snow, delaying railway traffic, forcing suspension of service by many airlines, and bringing English Channel shipping almost to a standstill.

Although the British Isles did not freeze up as solidly as Central European countries, biting winds and snowstorms raked the countryside and the channel, forcing many ships to anchor in the lee of the southern shore of England.

Former King Alfonso of Spain and other passengers for France had to embark at Folkestone because Dover Harbor was closed. Most of Scandinavia, Poland and the Balkans were snowbound. Six persons died in the five-degree temperature in Belgium. More snow and cold were forecast.

TWO ARE KILLED IN CRASH TESTING OVERHAULED PLANE

MUNCIE, Ind., Feb. 11.—Paul S. Peters, 24 years old, pilot, and Kenneth J. Heston, 22, student aviator, were killed late yesterday when an overhauled plane they were testing crashed from a thousand feet at the Silver Fox Airport, five miles west of Yorktown, near Muncie.

William Martin, mechanic, said the plane had been overhauled Friday. Peters had installed new spark plugs in the motor. Martin said, and then with Heston, had taken off to make a test flight. Peters, a transport pilot, had almost a thousand flying hours to his credit. He trained at Lambert Field, St. Louis.

$1000-A-MONTH ALIMONY FOR MRS. GRAHAM McNAMEE

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Mrs. Josephine McNamee, testifying today in her suit for divorce from Graham McNamee, radio announcer, said she and her husband had reached an agreement out of court as to alimony.

The suit is undefended, and although it was not brought out at the hearing before a referee today, the out-of-court arrangement for alimony was said to be $1000 a month.

"Did your husband, at the time you made that agreement, also agree not to defend this action?" the referee asked.

"Oh, no," replied Mrs. McNamee. Mrs. McNamee said she and her husband were married May 2, 1921, and have no children. She said she was a native of New York City and that McNamee, whose full name is Thomas Graham McNamee, came from Waverly, R. I.

Bad Storm Hits Azores. ANGRY DO HEROISM, the Azores, Feb. 11.—Scores of cottages and huts on the little island were damaged by a fierce gale and high seas today. Great waves swept the esplanade and the breakwater was demolished. Potato fields and vineyards were washed up. The liner Carvalho Araujo was overdue.

Every Father With a Son
Who Smokes

Should Know This Unique, Scientific Finding

How By Doing One Simple Thing, You Can Minimize the After-Effects of Tobacco to a Marked and Amazing Degree—WHAT YOU DO

Every day, the average person who smokes too many cigarettes a day notices it. Head heavy and dull—a pressing down over the eyes; across the back of the head.

Scientists now call it "Smoker's Fog." And most people who smoke have it more or less. Few call it by its right name; usually they think it's general bad health.

Now science points a way out. A way that minimizes the after-effects of tobacco to a marked and amazing extent.

How? By keeping your system alkaline. It's excess acid in your system that makes tobacco intolerable. Keep your alkaline balance in the simple way explained here, and you minimize any after-effects from smoking. Feel fine all the time. Believe it or not; but try it.

JUST DO THIS: Simply take two teaspoonfuls of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in a glass of water EVERY NIGHT before bed. That's all.

Or take two Phillips' Milk of Magnesia tablets every night which give an equivalent amount of Milk of Magnesia; for each Phillips' Milk of Magnesia tablet equals one teaspoonful of the liquid Milk of Magnesia.

This small, daily dose of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia tends to neutralize excess acids in your system. To alkalize your system against the after-effects of tobacco. Your head stays clear; your mouth sweet; you have fewer headaches.

If you smoke, be fair to yourself and try this. Don't let tobacco "get" you. Fortify your system against its after-effects. Millions are learning this. Millions are doing it.

TWO FORMS NOW AT STORES

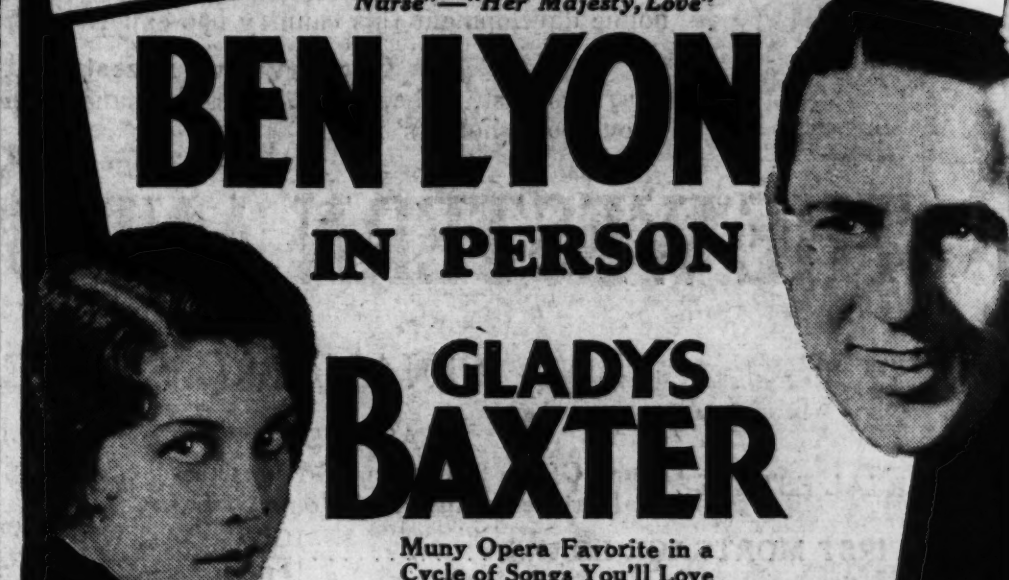

You can now get genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in tablet form, as well as ordinary liquid form. Each tablet is the equivalent of a teaspoonful of Milk of Magnesia. Carry the tablets with you wherever you go. They taste like mint candy.

ing him with defrauding the State of $27,000 in gasoline taxes. The maximum penalty is six months imprisonment and a $500 fine on each count. Allen admitted he had collected the tax when he retailed several tank carloads of gasoline bought from a refinery. He testified that he thought the tax should have been paid by the wholesalers from whom he bought the gasoline.

BOMBING IN REAR OF THEATER

Gary House Undamaged but Hotel
Windows Are Broken.

By the Associated Press.

GARY, Ind., Feb. 11.—A bomb was exploded last night at the rear of the Gary Theater, a combination movie and vaudeville house on Fifth avenue and Broadway, the town's chief business corner.

Many windows were broken in a hotel next door and guests fled in alarm, at first thinking the blast occurred inside the building. The theater was undamaged, the bomb being exploded outside its thick brick wall, and many of the 800 persons in the audience did not notice it. William Wolfe, manager, said the theater co-operative enterprise in which all employees receive a share of the proceeds, employed nonunion stage hands and motion picture projection machine operators.

RUSSIA WOULD AGREE TO LESS THAN COMPLETE DISARMAMENT

Litvinoff, at Geneva, Re-news Offer Rejected by Preparatory Commission but Is Prepared to Compromise.

BELGIUM TAKES STAND WITH FRANCE

Announces Its Support of Plan for Armed International Police Force Under the Direction of the League of Nations.

By the Associated Press. GENEVA, Feb. 11.—Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Russia's Commissioner for Foreign Affairs, told the World Disarmament Conference today that "universal and total" disarmament is the only "infallible solution" of the problem of organizing peace.

Paul Hymans, Belgian Foreign Minister, told the conference that Belgium supported the proposal of France for an armed international police force under the League of Nations.

Litvinoff rejected this proposal of France as "impractical."

Russia, he said, would support Germany and Italy in advocating equal rights for all countries and equal security for all states.

Consolidated, he said, that the Soviet program of total disarmament would meet with objections, he recommended also a progressive method of partial reduction as the most equitable for both strong and weak states.

Proposal Once Rejected. The Soviet proposal was a rejection of the French proposal made by Russia to the Preparatory Commission on Disarmament. It was rejected by that body.

The Russian delegation announced, however, that it was ready to discuss any proposal tending to reduce armaments and that the farther such reduction was "the more readily will the delegation take part in the work of the conference."

In rejecting the French proposal, Litvinoff asked: "What guarantee is there that the new international organization would be really able to defend the weaker nation or to protect the protection of the attacked against the attacker?"

His plan for proportional disarmament included an adjustment of the percentages of arms reduction so as to give equal security to weaker and more exposed countries.

Litvinoff was cheered as he mounted the rostrum and moderate applause followed the conclusion of his speech. This applause was given despite the fact that signs were posted for the first time today forbidding the delegates to applaud speakers.

The sole aim of the Soviet Government," Litvinoff said, "is to build up socialism in the Soviet Union. In the face of the successful accomplishment of our first five-year plan, which includes colossal achievements in every sphere of economic life, it seems to the Soviet delegation that what has been obvious from the beginning must now be clear as daylight to all and sundry—that the Soviet Union neither increases of territory nor interference in the affairs of other nations to achieve its aim. It could, therefore, do without an army, a navy or military aviation or all other forms of armed forces.

Wants Security Pledge. "The Soviet Government, however, does require assurance that there will be no attempts against Soviet territory either, and that all other states will not interfere with its internal affairs, and that its peaceful economic construction will not be tampered with from without. It will only feel this assurance if other states also agree to give up their armed forces."

Litvinoff said he foresaw the rapid approach of a new armed conflict, provoked by the intensification of political and international differences between the various states.

"This conflict," he said, "owing to the modern improvements in weapons of destruction, threatens humanity with incredible disaster and unprecedented devastation. The impending menace of war is causing universal alarm and arousing universal suspicion. This alarm and suspicion, together with the burden of taxation imposed upon the people for the maintenance of huge armed forces, is nourishing and intensifying the present economic crisis which is felt in all its

Mussolini Calls on Pope At Vatican on Anniversary Of Church and State Pact

National Holiday in Italy; Crowds Cheer Premier Along Way—He Talks With Pontiff for Hour and Emerges, Smiling.

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press.) VATICAN CITY, Feb. 11.—Premier Mussolini and Pope Pius XI met for the first time today in the Pope's library at the Vatican and were closeted together for a full hour.

The visit took place as the whole country was celebrating a new National holiday, the third anniversary of the signing of the Lateran Treaty between Italy and the Vatican. This treaty, negotiated by envoys of Mussolini and the Pope, ended the long voluntary schism between the State and the Holy See. It recognized the Pope as a temporal sovereign within the limits of Vatican City.

The visit, expected for several months since the settlement of the controversy over the Catholic Action Society, had been expected to last only a few minutes, but continued for an hour.

Judging by Mussolini's smile as he emerged, the meeting was most pleasant. It was not learned what was discussed, but from all signs it was a thoroughly friendly talk.

After the private conversation ended Mussolini presented the members of his party to the Pope and then bent and kissed the Pope's ring as he did when he entered. He then said farewell and went to visit Cardinal Pacelli, Papal Secretary of State. Later he went to St. Peter's and knelt in prayer.

Crowds Cheer Premier on Way. Setting out to make the call, Mussolini's official party left the Palazzo Venezia in Rome shortly after 10 a. m. and made it way to Vatican City through troop-lined streets. Thousands of Italians in holiday attire cheered the Premier as he passed along.

The party was escorted by carabinieri and was accompanied by Ambassador de Visschers of the Holy See. The route was covered with orange-colored sand, as is done for the cortege of King Victor Emmanuel.

A short time later the Pope and the Premier met face to face in the Pope's private apartments, shook hands and sealed their peace in friendly conversation. No one witnessed the meeting.

Mussolini traveled a little less than a mile in Vatican City. Nearly all of this was by motor car, but the last 150 yards was afoot, 50 yards up four flights of stairs to the high second-floor apartment where he was to spend the night.

Mussolini might have entered the massive doorway in the right colonnade where hangs the great bronze door that was shut for 58 years when the Pope was voluntary "prisoner," or he could have taken the elevator, but he chose to go to the Pope as have millions of others, high and low.

Ceremonious Reception. Entering the piazza of St. Peter's, before the great basilica, the Premier's car swung to the left and almost circled St. Peter's, going behind it along a winding rising road under arches in walls several yards thick, through three small courts into the Court of San Damaso, heart of the Catholic Church's administration, the courtyard of the palace of the Vatican, where the Pope lives and where are the high papal offices.

Swiss guards in the gorgeous velvet, first and foremost, by the working classes. Such a war, he said, could only be prevented by total and general disarmament. He said no country is more in need of security than Russia which 14 years ago was an object of armed attack on all its frontiers as well as a blockade and a political and economic boycott.

The Chinese-Japanese conflict was a cause of especial anxiety to Russia, he said, because of Russia's geographical nearness to the scene, the existence of anti-Soviet propaganda and a mobilization of the forces of Russian empires.

"In spite of all this," he said, "I am empowered to declare the readiness of the Soviet Union to disarm to the same extent, and at the same rate to which the other Powers, first and foremost those actually at our borders, may agree."

Hymans announced that Belgium would support particularly the French proposals for abolishing the most powerful offensive arms and for the internationalization of airplanes.

"The peoples will not renounce defensive weapons," Hymans said, "until they have the equivalent of guarantees of protection." He also supported the Polish theory of "moral disarmament."

KING CALLS ON MACDONALD British Ruler Goes to Hospital to See Premier.

LONDON, Feb. 11.—Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald, recovering in a hospital from an operation on his eye, was visited today by King George himself, who drove over from Buckingham Palace. He was accompanied by an equestrian.

When Cardinal Ratti was elected Pope, Feb. 6, 1922, Mussolini was in Rome. He was in the crowd of thousands before St. Peter's when the election was proclaimed.

According to a story told by the Minister of Agriculture, Giacomo Acerbo, Mussolini exclaimed: "I believe that with Pope Ratti one can do something."

GENERAL SALES TAX IS BIG ITEM IN REVENUE BILL

Levy on Manufactures as They Come From Factory Seems Likely of Approval.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—A general manufacturers' sales tax of 1 or 2 per cent appeared certain to be the big item on the new revenue bill being drafted by the House Ways and Means Committee with appointment today of a subcommittee of seven to study the proposal advocated by a large number of representatives of big industries.

Subcommittees also were appointed to draft recommendations for increase in income taxes and for the levying of a gift tax.

Acting Chairman Crisp declined to make the personnel of the subcommittees public. The proposal likely of approval is to levy a general sales tax on manufactures as they come from the factory in preference to taxes on individual manufactured products.

Later, Crisp told the House that unless sufficient revenue were raised to balance the Federal budget, "all the reconstruction and temporary relief measures will be futile."

The Georgia Democrat said the committee was "confronted by the most difficult of all problems any committee of Congress ever had" in trying to find ways of getting revenue.

Appealing to all these, Crisp said that they should have courage enough to face the issue, saying, "I for one, have burned my bridges behind me, and I am going to advocate enough taxes to balance the budget, whether I come back to Congress or not."

The Georgian said it would be necessary to raise $1,241,000,000 to balance the budget in the 1933 fiscal year, "either through a general manufacturers' sales tax or excise taxes of sundry and diverse commodities or industries."

Crisp said the bill that would be drafted would be a "nonpartisan measure."

He was loudly applauded at the conclusion of his remarks, the members on both sides of the House rising and cheering him.

WET LEADERS IN HOUSE WORKING ON BEER BILL

No Immediate Agreement on Its Exact Nature in Sight, Chairman Says.

By the Associated Press. WASHINGTON, Feb. 11.—House anti-prohibition leaders set to work yesterday to frame a beer bill on which they will seek a vote although agreement as to its exact nature was not in sight immediately.

The first of a series of meetings looking to drawing up a satisfactory measure was held by the Executive Committee of the House Republican and Democratic anti-prohibition blocs in an attempt to agree on the form of the bill their groups will be asked to support.

Although several measures were considered, Chairman Lathrop of the Democratic group said an immediate agreement was not likely. There was no indication when they expected to complete their work. The two groups already have voted, however, to support a constitutional amendment to provide for State liquor control. In addition to the Maryland Democrat, Representative O'Connor (Dem), New York, Cochran (Dem), Missouri, William E. Hull (Rep.), Wisconsin, took part in yesterday's discussions.

The French reply asserted that the French Government had received $1,199,700,000 reichmarks and that after deducting from this legally authorized sums for military occupation, etc., it had left only $312,200,000 reichmarks for actual rehabilitation of the war damaged area. This cost was placed at about 103,000,000,000 francs, compared with 31,200,000,000 francs available.

The German figures showed $500,000,000 gold marks paid for "military disarmament and the sunken fleet at Scapa Flow," and $500,000,000 reichmarks for "industrial disarmament."

REPARATION PAYMENTS ANALYZED BY FRANCE

Paris Says It Has Received $4,970,000,000, Far Below Berlin Figure.

By the Associated Press. PARIS, Feb. 11.—A comprehensive analysis of German reparation payments, designed to refute German claims, was issued by the French Government last night. Based on reparation commission documents and world bank figures, the statement said Germany has paid to the allies 20,759,000,000 gold reichmarks instead of $7,673,000,000 reichmarks, as set forth by the Reich here.

(The current quotation of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York lists the reichmark at 22.865. In figures released in New York a month ago Germany set forth it had paid the allied governments 53,300,000,000 reichmarks, of which it was asserted France had received 20,000,000,000. According to the French statement, Germany has paid about $4,970,000,000. The German figure announced in New York works out about $12,930,000,000.)

The French communique, which sets the German, French and reparation commission figures side by side, is considered here to be the most exhaustive study of payments since the World War.

France says that from the total paid it received $1,199,700,000 reichmarks and that after deducting from this legally authorized sums for military occupation, etc., it had left only $312,200,000 reichmarks for actual rehabilitation of the war damaged area. This cost was placed at about 103,000,000,000 francs, compared with 31,200,000,000 francs available.

Salient differences between the German and French figures lay in the pre-war value of valuation of real property and in the inclusion of items not recognized by the reparation commission.

The German figures showed $500,000,000 gold marks paid for "military disarmament and the sunken fleet at Scapa Flow," and $500,000,000 reichmarks for "industrial disarmament."

BRITISH LABORITES BADLY BEATEN ON TARIFF REVISION

Proposal to Limit 10 Per Cent Rates to One Year Defeated in House of Commons, 345 to 62.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, Feb. 11.—The British Government pressed forward yesterday with its measure leading to a general 10 per cent tariff, defeating the opposition from the Labor side in the House of Commons.

A Labor proposal to limit the operation of the tariff to one year was rejected, 248 to 62. Another proposal to exempt foodstuffs from the duties was beaten, 235 to 65.

In the House of Lords, Viscount Snowden of Icknesham, in his first speech since elevation to the peerage, said he still was an unrepentant free trader.

The former Labor Chancellor of the Exchequer said a general 10 per cent duty would be "disastrous to the economic and industrial life of the country."

Chamber Facked for Debate. The House of Lords, usually three-fourths empty during debate, was packed to hear him tell why he remained a member of the Government with whose protectionist measures he was in sharp disagreement. Churchill is Lord Privy Seal, but he agreed to remain in the Cabinet while accepting the privilege of holding to his own belief on the tariff.

Referring scornfully to assertions that such an arrangement violated all precedent, he said that "if mankind always had remained the slave of precedent we would still be living in caves, eating shellfish."

After the proposed Labor amendments had been beaten in the House of Commons, the tariff bill in abbreviated form was given its first reading.

Its exact contents still are unpublished. Until the text is available it is not known what commodities will be exempt from the general tariff, other than those already announced, which include wheat and cotton, two of the major imports from the United States.

London newspapers say the Government's wheat quota scheme was approved by the Cabinet yesterday and provides that all flour milled in the United Kingdom shall have a compulsory content of British wheat amounting to 15 per cent.

GANDHI SENDS CHILDREN GIFT

His Spinning Wheel Received by Two Young New Yorkers.

By the Associated Press. NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Mahatma Gandhi's spinning wheel was waiting for Lilabati and Mahan Ghose, 4 and 7 years old, when they came home from school tonight.

The Mahatma promised them the gift several months ago when they crossed the Atlantic with their mother, Mrs. Sallendra Nath Ghose, president of the Indian National Congress of America, to invite Gandhi to America.

Recalls How Lincoln Built Boat Model to Prove Point

Gaius Paddock, 'Summer Clerk' at Springfield Store Remembers Young Lawyer's Efforts to Show Sangamon Was Navigable

In the group of distinguished leaders who made their rendezvous at Col. John Williams' store at Springfield, Ill., about 40 years ago, there was a young lawyer who always commanded attention when he spoke.

Whether the subject was national politics or the navigation of the nearby Sangamon River, the opinions of young Abraham Lincoln were invariably respected, according to Gaius Paddock, now 96 years old, who worked as "summer clerk" in the store and lingered long after closing hours to hear the discussions.

Mr. Paddock, who now lives at 5315 Waterman avenue, is a native St. Louisan, being born in a house still standing at 611 Market street. When he was 4 years old his parents moved to Springfield, and he was there, between 1840 and 1852, that he knew Lincoln.

He recalls hearing about Lincoln's marriage to Mary Todd in 1842, which was a significant social event in Springfield. He does not remember, however, when it was that he first saw the tall, lank figure of Lincoln.

"I met Lincoln and his wife," Mr. Paddock said. "Most vivid in the memory of the young lawyer and Congressman was his office on the west side of the State House square, where he made his way on summer evenings to Col. Williams' general store, on the north side of the square, for an exercise in community forensics."

"Anyone who saw him could have felt his great sincerity and honesty," Mr. Paddock related recently. "Every talk the great lawyer gave those days and I can recall Lincoln refusing to run for Congress because of the hypocrisy on the issue."

But to the "summer clerk" in Col. John Williams' store, an incident pertaining to the navigation of the Sangamon River provided more interest than the slavery discussions.

"The question of navigability of the river disturbed a great many people in those days because of the failure of the only railroad, a line from Springfield to Meredosia. The locomotives, which were made in England, had broken down and the roadbed had been abandoned."

Made Steamboat Model. Lincoln, who in his boyhood had worked on flatboats, contending for practical development of the Sangamon to the Illinois River and about thereby to the Mississippi, one night, after a debate at the store, he said, "We have talked ourselves hoarse without deciding a thing. I am going to show you a model of a steamboat to navigate the Sangamon and will demonstrate it in a water-tough here at the square."

Before the afternoon of the demonstration arrived, Mr. Paddock related, word had gone about town and a sizeable crowd had gathered. Lincoln appeared with a four-foot boat model and placed it in the water in the trough.

"He put bricks on the boat to make it sink to its first deck, and then applied air pumps, like old-fashioned fire bellows, beneath it. The boat rose an inch at a time, which Lincoln pointed out would amount to a foot or more on a boat of regular size."

"People were much impressed, but not fully convinced that a boat of that type might successfully pass over shoals in the Sangamon. Lincoln did, however, later patent such a device."

Remembers Four Wars. After he had moved from Springfield to Alton, Mr. Paddock heard the last of a series of seven famous debates between Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas, the last debate taking place in Alton in 1858.

The acquaintance with Lincoln is only one distinction of Mr. Paddock's long life. He is one of the persons alive who can recall seeing soldiers leave for four wars of the United States, beginning with the Mexican War in 1846.

Yet daily he goes alone on the street car to his downtown office, a practice he has kept up since his retirement in 1905.

Will Speak on Radio. He began business in St. Louis in 1871 and for seven years afterward commuted daily from Alton, although he was forced to cross the Mississippi River on a ferry boat, or in severe weather, on the ice. He was identified with the Paddock-Hawley Iron Co., a hardware concern, and lived in a house on Washington boulevard just west of Grand boulevard which has been razed only recently.

Since his retirement, he has been spending six months of each year in the city and six months at an ancestral home near Edwardsville. The house there was built in 1818 by his grandfather, one of the "Green Mountain Boys" of Vermont, who were soldiers with Washington at Trenton, Valley Forge and Yorktown.

He lives here with three daughters and has another daughter and three sons living. His reminiscences of Lincoln will be the subject of a brief address tomorrow over the National Broadcasting Co. chain.

A meeting of the Society of St. Louis Authors, in honor of the 20th anniversary of Washington's birth, will be held at 7 p. m. next Thursday at Forest Park Hotel. Prof. Ireland G. Usher will speak on "Washington in Historical Literature" and Prof. Ralph F. Fuchs on "The Constitution, Old and New."

War, the disarmament conference and Soviet Russia will be discussed Friday night at 7:30 o'clock at a mass meeting in Crunden Branch Library, Fourteenth and Cass avenue, sponsored by the Communist League of America (opposition).

Mrs. Arthur S. Tylee, widow of a missionary killed by South American Indians, will speak on work in the mission fields at the annual day of prayer of the Woman's Missionary Federation of St. Louis at St. John's Methodist Church, Kingshighway and Washington boulevard tomorrow. Miss Elizabeth Wells, former missionary in India, also will speak. The service will open at 10:30 a. m.

Miss Esther H. Bunt, contralto, and C. J. Fiddick, bass, will give a concert tomorrow night at Grace Methodist Episcopal Church, Skinker boulevard and Waterman avenue.

The East Central District of the Missouri Optometric Association will meet at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow night at Hotel Statler. Speakers will include Dr. H. Epstein, Granite City; Dr. Frank H. Moss, East St. Louis; and Dr. Earl Dick, Affton.

Noonday Lenten Services. Noonday Lenten services at Christ Church Cathedral were begun yesterday, with Bishop Scarlett as the speaker. The sermon today was by the Rev. Dr. Karl Morgan Block.

WASHINGTON CELEBRATION HERE TO LAST SIX MONTHS

St. Louis Committee, With Prof. Lippincott as Chairman, Opens Offices

The St. Louis Committee of the Bicentennial of the Birth of Washington has opened offices in the Municipal Courts Building to conduct a celebration over a six-months' period.

Prof. Isaac Lippincott of Washington University is the chairman. The official inauguration of the season will be on Sunday evening, Feb. 21, when the St. Louis Symphony Orchestra and the musical clubs of Washington University will present a concert at the university's field house.

Tonight the celebration will be opened informally with a biographical pageant, "Washington, the Man Who Made Us," to be given at the Odette by students of Central High School. It was written by Percy Mackaye, author of the St. Louis Pageant and Masque. The high school pupils have been preparing the entertainment for nearly a year. Any profit will be given to their students' aid fund.

St. Louis Student Wins Debate. St. Louis, Feb. 11.—George D. Chopin of St. Louis, a student in the law school of Georgetown University, was named winner in the intercollegiate debate just concluded at the university. The subject of the debate was the Manchurian situation which led to the present fighting between China and Japan. He is a son of Dr. and Mrs. George F. Chopin, 5548 Church road.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

Mrs. Emily Lewis, daughter of Joseph W. Lewis, 12 Horstense place, and Miss Martha Love, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward K. Love, 54 Westmoreland place, departed yesterday for a tour of Mexico. They are en route to New Orleans, where they will go by boat to Vera Cruz. Later they will go to Mexico City, which will be their headquarters, and from which they will take short trips to the interior towns. They plan to be away four weeks.

Mrs. William Francis Niedringhaus of the St. Regis Apartments is expected home Sunday from Palm Beach, Fla., where she has been the guest for three weeks of Mrs. David H. Calhoun of the Kingsbury Apartment at the home of Mr. Calhoun's mother, Mrs. Luigi Signorini of Rome.

Mrs. Lewis Chauncey Hamilton will depart the last of the week for her home in Washington, following a visit with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Carl H. Langenberg, of the St. Louis Country Club grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wright Pettus, whose marriage was a recent social event of Monday, are spending their honeymoon at the New Colonial Hotel, Nassau, in the Bahama Islands. Mrs. Pettus was Miss Jane Tyler Messick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charlton Messick.

Mrs. Thomas Skinker Maffitt, 4520 West Pine boulevard, has returned from New York, where she visited Mrs. John David Mulvane and her daughter, Miss Katherine Mulvane. Miss Mulvane is the fiancée of Mr. and Mrs. Maffitt's son, Edward Pierce Maffitt, who is vice consul at the American Consulate in Athens, Greece.

Mrs. Alice Orthwein Helmsler, 5974 Waterman avenue, is entertaining her cousin, Miss Rose Miller of Little Rock, Ark. She arrived 10 days ago and has been entertained informally at small family parties. Miss Miller plans to depart Sunday for her home.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. B. Thompson, 510 Trinity avenue, are expected home Feb. 17 from a trip around the world. They have been away since June, and landed a few days ago in New York from the Berengaria. Mr. Thompson, who is head master of the St. Louis Country Day School, is now attending a meeting of the Head Masters' Association in Rye, N. Y.

Mrs. John Fairbanks departed last night for California after a week's visit with her sister, Mrs. George P. Payne, 7603 Forsythe boulevard. Mrs. Fairbanks is a sister-in-law of Douglas Fairbanks, the movie actor. She and her daughters returned a month ago from Europe, where they spent much time at St. Moritz, and have since been visiting in New York. Her younger daughter, Miss Mary Margaret Fairbanks, has returned to California, and Miss Flo Belle Fairbanks will be here for a visit with Mrs. Payne in about three weeks. Mrs. Payne will go to New York Monday for a fortnight.

Mrs. Fairbanks was entertained informally during her stay. Her hostesses included Mrs. Thomas Halcy, Mrs. Robert Hyland and Mrs. Earl Painter.

The fifth party in the series of six given this winter by the Club Dances, in the Tower Room of the Congress Hotel, will be given Saturday night, Feb. 20. Dancing will begin at 9 o'clock. Mrs. Alfred H. Murphy, hostess at each party, will be assisted by Mrs. Charles H. Garrison, Mrs. C. Earl Hubbard, Mrs. Albert B. Hunter, Jr., Mrs. Arthur Guy Stoughton and Mrs. Charles Tooker. The membership is made up of boys and girls of preparatory school age.

Miss Berdelle Moch, 2623 Virginia avenue, and Miss Doris Fruth, 3060 Hawthorne boulevard, and Miss Moch's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. N. Roll, went to New Orleans for the Mardi Gras and will visit in Hot Springs and Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. E. H. English, 6315 Clayton road, and Mrs. Olive Burris, Canton, O., are spending the winter in Miami and Palm Beach, Fla.

Madonna Healey, Hermoline Hamel, Lillian Herron and Edna Moller, students at Washington University and members of the Washington University League of Women Voters, have been elected delegates to the annual convention of college leagues to be held at Columbia, Mo., Friday and Saturday. The University of Missouri and Lindenwood, Stephens, William Woods, Drury and Central colleges will be represented.

The next meeting of the Washington University League will be held Feb. 16 in the lounge of the Women's Building at 4 o'clock. Tea will be served.

BISHOP SCARLETT DEFINES LENT IN CATHEDRAL TALK

"Time for Giving a Little More Attention to Spiritual Side of Lives."

Lent was defined by Bishop William Scarlett at the "Ash Wednesday service at Christ Church Cathedral yesterday as "a time designated by the church for giving a little more attention than usual to the spiritual side of our lives."

"Most of us say we are just average people, not very good and not very bad," Bishop Scarlett said. "That is our danger, because it makes us fairly contented with lower standards." The speaker at the noon service today was the Rev. Karl M. Block of the Church of St. Michael and St. George.

Archbishop Glennon, speaking at the Old Cathedral yesterday, said he had preached the same sermon 29 years ago at the opening service of Lent at the historic church.

"You are but dust, and to dust thou shalt return," was the text. In conclusion, Archbishop Glennon discussed alms-giving as a part of the observance of Lent, explaining that, in a large city, the giving of alms must be done wisely as well as generously. Noonday services will be held at the Old Cathedral daily during Lent, except on Saturdays and Sundays.

MCKINLEY, NOW A SENIOR HIGH SCHOOL, NAMES COACHING STAFF

JONES, MAGUOLO AND BRISBIN TO HAVE CHARGE OF 3 MAJOR SPORTS

By Harold Tuthill

Plans for the rehabilitation of McKinley as a four-year senior high school were started today with the announcement by Principal John C. Edwards of the men who would comprise the coaching staff. The men selected are Raymond B. Brisbin and Norman R. D. Jones.

Of the three, Brisbin is most familiar with McKinley's situation, since he has coached the basketball team during the school's existence as a junior high school. Brisbin will continue in the capacity of basketball instructor and assume the duties of track and field coach in the spring. Before he came to St. Louis, Brisbin was coach at the Marshall (Mo.) High School.

Jones is well fitted for the position of football coach, to which he has been appointed by Edwards, because Jones is a former player, and a good one, too. He received his early training playing guard on the Eureka (Ill.) College eleven and was honored with a mention in 1929 and was placed on the Little 19 All-Star team in 1921.

Studied Football Under Zuppke

After graduating from Eureka, Jones went to Illinois University to finish his work for a degree and while there he took a football course under Bob Zuppke and Gil Doble. In 1923 and 1924 Jones was line coach at Lincoln (Ill.) High, but he left that position to become principal of Hopedale. Jones rightfully assumes credit for the fine showing made by the Lincoln team in his two years' stay, only one game having been lost. In 1925 Lincoln defeated Staunton, 38 to 5, for the championship of South and Central Illinois.

Jones left Hopedale to take over the line-coach position at Alton High, where he continued for two years until he moved over to St. Louis to teach at the Hadley Vocational School, which does not maintain an athletic department. Last fall Jones was transferred to Boland as assistant to Jimmy Cook but this semester Jones received orders to transfer to McKinley. The announcement of his selection came as a surprise to Jones because, as he stated, "I did not know that Mr. Edwards was acquainted with his record."

Maguolo's appointment was not such a surprise, because he was known to Edwards, when Maguolo taught manual training at the Grade School under Philip J. Hickey. Maguolo is a St. Louis product, having been educated at Washington University, from where he received his degree in 1923. In 1918 Maguolo was a member of the S. A. T. C. football team which won the Missouri Valley championship, but he did not play in enough games to win his letter.

Maguolo played for Bears' Nine

The baseball ability of Maguolo is best known, because he played in the Washington University outfield for two years and in his last year he was moved in to the infield to cover the shortstop position. Although he was not much bigger than one of Singer's midgelets then, his work was of such caliber as to secure him offers from major league baseball clubs, but he turned them all down.

From Madison, Maguolo moved up to Beaumont High School, where he assisted Victor H. Kirk in coaching the baseball team. The experience Maguolo gained at Beaumont will stand him in good stead at McKinley, despite the fact that the student body at the South Side school is limited in this term to only freshmen and sophomores.

It is possible, but not probable, that McKinley will not have a baseball team, depending upon the reception tendered the application by the athletic board for readmittance to the City High School League. Arthur H. Pfaff and Raymond G. Rees, physical training directors, together with the three coaches, compose the McKinley athletic board and this group will convene within the next few days to draft the proposal for readmittance as a league member.

Schedules to Be Altered

The 1932 basketball schedule has been drawn up without considering McKinley, because the constitution of the league stipulates that the schedule be drafted before Feb. 1, and at that time McKinley was not a member of the league. Speaking unofficially, Karl L. Ware, secretary of the league, said his opinion was that McKinley's request for readmittance would be granted and that the basketball and football schedules would be altered to permit McKinley's participation in those sports.

It was learned that the restoration of McKinley's records, pictures and trophies, will not take place for some time, at least not until the principals of all the high schools have met in a private session and discussed the matter. However, it is expected that Roosevelt, which received all McKinley's records, credits several years ago will relinquish its claims to these. This would mean that two legs on the Yale Bowl, which were transferred to Roosevelt when McKinley passed out of the league, would again become the property of McKinley, and that instead of four, Roosevelt will have only two legs on the trophy.

TOP FLIGHT IS HELD AT 8 TO 1 ODDS IN EAST

By the Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Feb. 11.—Although only one filly ever won the Kentucky Derby, C. V. Whitney's Top Flight, undefeated as a two-year-old last year, continues the winter book favorite to emulate the 1915 triumph of Regret at Churchill Downs, May 7.

Top Flight is held at 8 to 1 by Tom Kearney, St. Louis betting commissioner, while Tom Shaw, the Eastern clubhouse commissioner, quotes the brilliant daughter of Dis Don-Flyatt at 8 to 1.

Mrs. Louis G. Kaufman's Tick On, winner of the $50,000 Hopeful at Saratoga, is rated the second choice at 10 to 1. Tick On won only three of his 10 starts and $87,850, but gave every indication of developing into a distance runner. Tick On extended Top Flight in the Pimlico Futurity.

Burning Blaze, the Midwest juvenile champion owned by the Valley Lake Stable of Chicago, shares with J. J. Robinson's Lucky Tom, three-year-old sensation of the current New Orleans meeting, the honor of third choice. Each is quoted at 15 to 1. Burning Blaze was the second-largest money winning two-year-old last year, earning $35,415.

Quoted at 20 to 1 are E. R. Bradley's Burgo King, the chief hope of Kentucky; the Nevada Stock Farm's Hygro, springing sensation of the Middle West; T. M. Cassidy's Universe and Mrs. Graham Fair Vanderbilt's Sweeping Light.

Grouped in the 30 to 1 class are: On Post, a stable mate of Tick On; Victor Emanuel's speedy sprinter, Mortar, a son of the 1919 Derby winner, and Walter J. Salmon's great stretch runner, Mad Pursuit, which was second to Top Flight in the $100,000 Belmont Futurity.

Although a top-notch money winner with earnings of $55,805, W. R. Coe's Osculator is considered no better than a 40 to 1 chance to lead the field at Churchill Downs, March 2. A stable mate, A. C. Bostwick's Proteus and W. T. Waggoner's Liberty Limited, from Texas, also are held at 40 to 1.

One may write his own ticket on the remainder of the nominations, which will be announced Feb. 20.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

There is one sure way that never fails to remove dandruff completely and that is to dissolve it. Then you remove it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all of your symptoms of dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and remove every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

You can get liquid arvon at any drug store, and four ounces is all you will need. This simple remedy entirely satisfies.

Soldan Beats Principia.

The Soldan High School basketball team defeated the Principia Junior College five, 26 to 13, in a game at Howard Gym yesterday afternoon. Coach White's outfit took a 3-to-2 lead at the end of the first period and held it during the remainder of the contest. In the second half Principia had more opportunities to score but missed many shots. Soldan won the first game from Principia in December, 11 to 9.

SOFT WATER

WITH ABSORPTION

WILL SAVE ST. L. $750,000 ANNUALLY

Road This Local

With a view to further softening the water for a study of methods. The additional softening of the water will save $750,000 a year in the family soap bill, by reducing the scaling in boilers, pipes and other equipment. It is the plan of the Water Department to install a softening plant of 90 parts of hard water to 100 parts per 1,000,000. Expected this will be accomplished in about 1933.

ABSO Is Doing This N

From everywhere we receive praise for the finest WATER SOFTENER ever of spotless Homes and that it has Cleaning from "drudgery" into a "pleasure."

FREE

As a token of appreciation for the thousands of housewives who have used ABSO in such a short time, we are giving away a limited time, 100 quality CANNON WASHERS of two piece color, individual call. No limit—get as many as you wish. You never lose. Ask for at your neighborhood dealer.

COMPOUNDERS OF CLEANING SPECIAL

YOUR Ford was built for many thousands of miles of dependable, fault-free service. But no matter how good a car may be—how fine the parts or great the skill with which they are made and fitted—certain attention is necessary from time to time. Then, it is essential that men who know the Ford car in every part, men who work with precision machinery and accustomed fingers, should do the servicing or make the repairs.

Your neighborhood Ford dealer therefore is the man to see when you need service, parts, or accessories of any kind. His clean, well-ordered shops are equipped with factory-endorsed service machinery. The parts used are genuine Ford parts—high in quality, low in cost.

Ford service is always most economical—always dependable and safe—but at this particular time, when many cars require extra attention, special prices are in effect. Drive into the nearby Ford Service Department and ask about them. A free inspection will be made of your car. You will know the cost of the work you order before it's started—and will find it agreeably low.

If you ask my Opinion

Martha Carr

Letters intended for this column must be addressed to Martha Carr at the St. Louis Post-Dispatch. Mrs. Carr will answer all questions of general interest but, of course, cannot give advice on matters of a purely legal or medical nature. Those who do not care to have their letters published may enclose an addressed and stamped envelope for a personal reply.

DEAR MARTHA CARR: We are twins, and ever since we were babies we have dressed alike. But now we are getting very tired of it. Our tastes are different and we would like to select our own clothes.

But we do not feel like suggesting it to our mother because she is sensitive and we are afraid of hurting her feelings if we let her know we do not like the way she dresses us. What could we do to change and still have her feel all right about it? BETTY AND BETSY.

It is nice for you to be tender and solicitous about your mother's feelings. But I imagine it isn't such a terribly serious matter with her. Little twins are cute dressed alike, and it is really very smart even when grown for them to dress alike. Perhaps it is more a custom in England than here. The only trouble is, as you say, they develop individual tastes and personalities and want to express it no less in their clothes than in other ways. I believe you might say to her that it has been all right so far, but that all her girls are beginning to bud like and dislike and you just cannot keep them down. If she doesn't mind you would like before long, to choose some of your things for yourself.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My girl friend and I are very laughable. When something funny is said we seem to be the only ones to laugh. Do you think we irritate people, and if so how can we reform ourselves?

TWO BLUE LOES.

If your friends haven't a "funny bone" and do not see the humor when it is real—well, that is just their bad luck. But do not giggle and have compulsion fit over every little silly thing that happens. People who are gifted with a genuine sense of humor are sometimes appreciated and sometimes unpopular—even have been arrested for it; but the gift should compensate for much.

DEAR MRS. CARR: My girl and I have been keeping "steady company" for some time. I am now out of work and cannot afford to take her out, but have phoned her regularly. Should I keep this up until I get work, or what shall I do? LONESOME.

You do not expect her, if she really cares for you, to give you up because you are out of work. You cannot "show her a good time," do you? That would be strange. Couldn't you go to see her occasionally as well as telephone? Not monopolize her, perhaps, but certainly remain steadfast.

MY DEAR MRS. CARR: You give wonderful advice to such persons as myself—those who are always in doubt. Just now I am embarrassed over the length of my clothes. I am short and thick, so have to get large sizes and they are always too long. My street dresses should be about 10 or 12 inches from the ground, instead of which they are ankle length. Some of them are made so they cannot be shortened. Now that I am married, do you think pale colors are unsuitable for me for summer? My mother lives far away and I certainly do make a batch of my clothes. What materials will be best for this summer and what colors? I should like young woman wear glasses in the evening or afternoon? My eyes suffer when I don't.

ALWAYS IN DOUBT.

A gown has to be very extraordinary in style not to admit of shortening. If you do not know how, get a little dressmaker to help and show you; there are many clever ones. 2. Anything that is becoming is proper for a young woman—married or not. 3. Rough creases, thin wools, hand-knit boucle two and three-piece suits and a downy-looking lace in light tints; cotton wide-wale corduroy stripes, open-weave cottons (some look knitted); for trimming you d'ange (angel skin), satin, silks in small prints and chiffons, of course. White, red and black, a yellowish tan and all blues. Of course, wear your glasses anywhere you may need them.

DEAR MRS. CARR: When I married, I thought I was the only one, to my husband. But now I find he loves someone else. He says he is going and will take the baby some day, which will kill me. Do you think he will leave with this other woman? Would you advise me to leave first?

PERKY'S FRIEND.

I would take no step at all without asking legal advice. If you have given your husband no cause for separation or divorce and you have the case of the other woman to offer, I do not believe he could take the baby. Probably he could be made to support you both, legally.

Feminism in the Discard

European Women Too Busy With Struggle for Existence.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.

Average women of Germany, Austria, England—aren't talking about women's rights, sex freedom, international peace, or even about clothes.

In Germany they are talking of Hitler and politics and the vanishing values of the mark. In England, they are talking of the "Buy British" movement, and of whether they will be able to buy at all. In Austria they are talking of how to live today and tomorrow.

Essentially, all of them are talking and thinking of two things. How, in a world whose foundations are slipping, are they going to get the essentials of mere existence? How shall they educate their children for the unknown future?

"Feminism" has vanished into the limbo of the past, in the new European crisis.

That is what Dorothy Thompson, wife of Sinclair Lewis, the novelist, is saying on her return from a two-month visit to England, France, Germany, Belgium and Austria. Miss Thompson—or Mrs. Lewis, for she is now a Lucy Stoner—is herself a writer on the world scene, a former foreign correspondent for American newspapers, and author of a book about Russia. She believes Western civilization is breaking down in Europe. She made this last visit there because, in her own words, "it's a thrilling spectacle, and I want to see as much of it as I can."

She came back, crackling with the desire to make us in this country realize what profound changes are taking place in Europe, in the entire world. She wasn't particularly interested in "women's problems," for she believes there are no longer women's problems as such.

"The old feminist movement is gone. Women in Europe are no longer concerned with the rivalry between the sexes, with the struggle of entering man's world on an equal basis with men, with the privileges of votes and jobs."

"They are asking themselves, rather, whether they are for the entire present structure of society, or against it. They are too terribly concerned with the immediate demands of mere survival to worry about whether married women should work or where women's place is."

"I believe we need a new feminism in the world today, one that is not concerned with sex differences, a feminism that knows about economics and finance, that looks toward reorganizing the world so that every one will have a job. There is no more 'feminine'; there are only fundamental, human problems."

"We in America can't realize that in Europe the whole system is crumbling, that the capitalist system as we know it is practically wiped out," she said. "In Germany no one knows from one day to the next what the form of government will be, whether there will be a republic, or a dictatorship, or a change also, though to a slightly lesser extent, in England and Austria. No one knows how they are going to survive at all."

In Germany, women, in fright, are clinging to the Hitler movement as the most conservative element in the new order of affairs—though this, she believes, is a movement that combats their best interests.

In England they are strongly backing the new nationalistic spirit, the "Buy British" movement—though they may find it harder to feed their children because of it.

"Women are naturally the more conservative group," she said, "and in Europe generally they are aligning themselves with the conservatives."

Women, she summed up, are morose in economics and finance—and so are many men—and economics and finance, international women themselves is concerned as well as household, are the "facts" they are, Mrs. Lewis believes, of life women must know, if they are to mean anything or have any real influence.

A change has come about in Germany. The traditional woman who knew her three C's—church, child, and cookery—used to be the one that was looked up to, the sought-for mate.

"Up to the war, even after, German women as a whole made marriage their career," said Mrs. Lewis. They brought a dowry to their husbands when they married, and men as a matter of course looked for wives who had a dowry. Then they set up their homes and attended to them.

"Now men don't want women who only know the kitchen and the nursery. They want wives who know how to support themselves. For what family in Germany today can give its girls a dowry? The frightened, conservative way, and whole middle class is wiped out."

BRIDGE

Lenz Explains Play of a Difficult Defensive Hand.

This is the second of a series of articles in which leading bridge experts select the most interesting hand they ever played.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.

IN the words of Sidney S. Lenz it requires rather precise play in bridge to know when a three-spot is sufficiently high to pick up an adversary's two, especially in trumps. Planets have their appeal to the novice, but the thrill of the master often comes in accurate defense that sets a contract. Here is a hand from a national tournament in which the lowly three-spot in Lenz's hand was a great factor in defeating the declaration:

East bid one spade, South two hearts and West two spades, which became the contract. West's raise in spades is against the tenets of some systems, which would prefer a no-trump, except for the short suit in hearts with only one stopper.

"Ma," she said, without emotion. "With Ash Preston's consent?"

"He'd never let you ruin your soul by such dishonor. They have blinded you—preyed on your love. Your brother is mad. Your father desperate. They would murder you—"

"Ash would agree to this, wouldn't he? He's in the back . . . No, Thirly."

"You—will not?" she sobbed.

"Never! Not even to have you!" Suddenly, then, he had a wild weeping creature in his arms, whose cries were incoherent, whose beating hands and shaking body wrought havoc to the iron of his mood.

"Oh, thank God—you won't!" she wept, lifting streaming eyes and working face. "I prayed you'd—refuse. I told Dad you'd never, never do it. . . . I told Ash he'd . . . he'd never let you have me. . . . But they made me—they drove me—all night they nagged me—until I gave in. . . . Trueman, darling, say you forgive. I was weak. I loved him so—and I'm almost broken. . . . But you lift me from the depths. I love you more—a thousand times. Let some what will. I can face it now."

"Don't go back to the Pass," Thirly pleaded.

"I must. I'll go alone."

"Oh—you will! . . . Trueman, I couldn't hate you. Once I thought I might. . . . Oh, don't go!"

"Take me away—far away across the mountains," she begged, her lips parting from his to implore mercy, and then seeking them again.

"It's the only way. I am yours, body and soul. I ask nothing more of the life but that you spare him—and take me. . . ."

The boys will let us have a peck. We can cross the mountains. It is not yet winter. . . . Then somewhere we two will live for each other. I will forget him and all this horror. And you—will never—kill another man."

"Thirly girl, hush; you are breakin' me," he cried. "I shall go alone—make one last stand to save your father."

DO YOU KNOW why new stockings fit with such alluring smoothness? Because each silk thread is elastic. Stretch it—it springs right back into shape.

But when elasticity is lost—the stretched threads can't spring back. Then you get wrinkly ankles—crooked seams. Run, start this way, too—the silk threads break, instead of giving, under strain.

That is why LUX is especially made to preserve elasticity—the secret of stocking fit and wear.

chips. These often contain harmful alkali which weakens and fades silk. Lux has no harmful alkali. Don't use too-hot water—this fades color. With Lux you use lukewarm water. No hot water needed. Anything safe in water is safe in Lux.

Wash this 2-minute way:

1. One teaspoon of Lux diamonds for each pair of stockings.

2. Add lukewarm water to Lux, squeeze gentle suds through stockings, rinse well, shake and hang up.

Don't rub with cake soap. It destroys the elasticity. Avoid ordinary soaps—cakes, powders.

The Latest in Styles

PARIS, Feb. 9.

WOMEN like uniforms, probably, and now they have military touches in their own clothes, as evidenced by Worth's spring styles.

Chevrons, braids and frogs have been added by Worth to the already ready popular spauld mod. Metal buttons and chain trims carry the effect still further.

Lines of the spring clothes shown by Worth match the new trimmings for broader shoulders and correctly military, and the slim skirts give the proper fitted-in appearance to the lower part of the figure.

Evening skirts are narrow, with the daytime frocks and slacks are designed with slashed skirts. Worth uses some trains, and continues to show the ruffled skirt.

Short evening coats have very wide sleeves, embroidered in angles. For day wear, there are many bolero short jacket suits, some with contrasting jackets.

Variations of wool and cotton are shown for evening dresses. A wide choice of other materials includes taffeta, chiffon, warpint crepe and organdy.

Dresses to be worn in the daytime range from Persian printed cashmeres, alpaca and loose weaves to the much-used wool crepe.

Square necks are featured by Worth, and a new treatment of collars is employed of a rope twist fabric.

Pastels become more popular with the spring. White may be worn at any time, and an unusual combination for the daytime is the black and yellow shown by Worth.

NEW CREDIT BILL QUICKLY APPROVED BY SENATE GROUP

Banking Committee Votes Safeguards to Protect Federal Reserve From Inflationary Process.

MEYER AND DAWES SPEAK FOR PLAN

Measure Would Release $750,000,000 in Gold, Former Declares at Hearing in the House.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12. — The Banking Committee quickly gave its approval today to the emergency measure opening the Federal Reserve System for cashing of new paper held by the nation's banking houses.

Senator Glass (Dem.), Virginia, is authorized to take his bill immediately before the Senate, and he announced that would be done in the course of the day.

The committee acted after a one-year executive session during which additional safeguards to protect the Federal Reserve from a possible inflationary process were put into the bill.

The Senate committee amended a reserve bill to limit its emergency provision on new paper eligible for rediscount applicable to individual banks having only a capitalization of $500,000 or less.

The legislation faces prompt enactment in the Senate, but likely will not be taken up until Monday, Speaker Garner promised quick consideration.

The House Banking Committee held hearings on the bill to broaden Federal Reserve credit and took measures under advisement before the bill is expected by the administration to relieve the national credit strain and take billions of new ineligible paper from the banks principally the smaller ones—and convert it into negotiable paper.

Three provisions of bill.

The measure has three provisions. The first allows for permanent revision of the law to permit Federal Reserve banks to lend to member banks on application of five banks when they have exhausted their rediscountable paper which is now eligible. The five banks must give a promissory note secured to the satisfaction of the Reserve Board.

The second provision allows small individual banks to obtain loans one year after they have exhausted their eligible paper upon a promissory note secured by sound security. The Federal Reserve Board is to pass judgment on the security.

The third provision makes possible for one year the use of direct government obligations as collateral for Federal Reserve note issued by member banks, thus freeing "free gold" for whatever use may be necessary.

Glass today informed the committee that the member banks of the Federal Reserve System held $1,000,000,000 of usable assets which they have not been permitted to use.

However, he emphatically said he would go through with the program agreed on at a conference between President Hoover and congressional leaders.

Meyer Before House Group.

Governor Eugene Meyer of the Federal Reserve Board said the board would release $750,000,000 of gold to the House Banking Committee to act expeditiously on the measure after Charles G. Dawes, president of the Reconstruction Corporation, had outlined his views in executive session.

Meyer said that by making Government bonds and short-term securities acceptable for rediscount purposes, it would be possible for the Federal Reserve banks to issue additional currency. The $2,900,000,000 in Federal Reserve notes now in circulation, he said, is backed by $2,000,000,000 in gold and $900,000,000 in eligible paper.

"The absence of eligible paper and the 'hoarding of currency' by the banks is responsible for the national situation," Meyer estimated that $1,250,000,000 in currency had been hoarded and said that under present law whereby Federal Reserve currency is backed by 40 per cent in gold and at least 60 per cent in eligible securities, it was not possible to issue additional currency.

Although $750,000,000 in gold would be released, Meyer said, it would still be held by the Federal Reserve banks under the proposed plan.

"The legislation is desirable for the benefit of the entire country," Meyer said. "It would give banks generally greater confidence, and confidence is an inspiring factor. It would enable them to make available more of their resources."
